Woods arraigned; faces charge of molesting a minor

CHARLESTON — A. D. Woods, 60, of Charleston Route One, was arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court on a charge of molesting a minor with immoral intent. The case was continued to July 25 by Judge T. J. Brown Jr. to allow Woods time to employ an attorney.

Woods, who remains in custody under $2,500 bond, is accused of indulging in degrading, lewd and immoral practices and taking indecent and improper liberties with his nine- year- old step-granddaughter. The incident reportedly occurred on July 14 at Woods' home.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Aug. 29 for James Poyner of Charleston, charged with felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Poyner, who is free on $2,000 bond, is accused of assaulting Jamie Small July 5 with a chain from a chain saw.

A preliminary hearing for Willie James "Bango" Evans of Charleston, charged with breaking jail and escaping before conviction and stealing involving breaking and entering, was set for July 25. Evans, who escaped briefly from Deputy Robert Smith July 5 after he was taken to a dental appointment, was being held on the stealing charge in connection with the theft July 2 of $350 from the home of Mose White of Charleston. He remains in custody under $5,000 bond.

A charge of driving while intoxicated brought a $150 fine and a suspended 30- day jail sentence to Collis Ray Haddock of Bertrand. Haddock was also fined $50 on a charge of driving while his license was revoked. He was placed on one- year probation on condition he pay his fine and court costs by Aug. 22 and obey the law.

Mose White of Charleston pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and trial was set for Aug. 15. White was released on his own recognizance.

A misdemeanor charge of stealing against Roger Mannon of East Prairie was continued to July 25 after he entered a plea of not guilty and requested time to employ an attorney. The charge against Mannon stems from the theft of an $18 pair of boots from Fred's of Sikeston on July 9. Bond was set at $1,000.

Jack Achter of East Prairie received a suspended 30- day sentence on a disturbing the peace charge and was placed on one- year probation on condition he obey the law and pay court costs of $26.

A warrant was issued for Harvey H. Hull of Sikeston, who failed to appear on a speeding charge.

Default judgment of $1,350 and costs were awarded Key Loan and Finance Co. in a promissory note suit brought against Victor and Mary Pazdera of Charleston.

Jerry Lyle Scott of East Prairie entered a written plea of guilty to a speeding charge and paid a $56 fine.

Other traffic violations brought the following fines: Virgil Vinson of Charleston, permitting an underage operator to drive, $26;

Inflation wins another round

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living rose one per cent in June as sharply higher prices for a wide range of consumer goods and services kept inflation soaring, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's figures underscored the bleak economic news Thursday from the Commerce Department which reported the economy underwent one of its most severe declines since World War II in the first half of the year.

The nation's output of goods and services—the Gross National Product—dropped between April and June for the second successive quarter of declines, the Commerce Department said. Some economists believe that two consecutive quarterly declines should be considered a recession. Other economists feel other factors must be considered.

The June rise in the consumer price index, announced today, was led by higher prices for new and used cars, medical care, mortgage interest costs, household durables and fresh fruits.

Food prices rose a seasonally adjusted three tenths of one per cent, a rate slightly more than usual for June but a much more moderate pace than in any other month this year with the exception of April when food prices fell four tenths of one per cent.

The June increase in consumer prices works out to an annual rate of 12 per cent. For the three months ending in June the pace of inflation soared at an adjusted annual rate of 10.9 per cent, according to the government figures.

Consumer prices last month rose to a level 11.1 per cent higher than a year ago, with the government's index at 147.1. This meant it cost $147.10 to purchase a variety of consumer goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

Nonfood items rose an adjusted 1.3 per cent, the sixth consecutive month of rapid rise. This was a reflection of sharply higher prices at wholesale which have continued to soar since price controls were dropped April 30.

Also up sharply last month were service costs which rose one per cent, the same as in May.

As has been the case for most of the past year, the spurt of inflation took another bite out of the purchasing power of the average production worker.

Real spendable earnings, or take-home pay adjusted for taxes and inflation, fell by three tenths of one per cent last month to a level 4.5 per cent below a year ago. Over the past year, the government has reported real spendable earnings dropped every month with the exception of May, September and July.

Leading the surge in nonfood prices was the rising cost of new automobiles which went up in June instead of declining as usual. Also up were prices for household goods, gasoline, fuel oil and clothing.

For the second quarter of the year, the consumer price index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 10.9 per cent, compared with 14.2 per cent in the preceding quarter. The rise in the food index slowed from a 19.4 per cent annual rate in the first quarter to 3.1 per cent in the April-June period, the smallest quarterly increase in two years, the government said.

The figures showed that although the gross national product rose in the last three months to an annual rate of $1.38 trillion, the value of those dollars eroded by 8.8 per cent because of higher prices. The result was that real output dropped 1.2 per cent.

Comprehensive plans presented

MALDEN — The Bootheel Regional Planning Commission Thursday night presented its five- year comprehensive plans for Sikeston and Hayti Heights to the mayors of each city at a meeting at the BRPC office.

The comprehensive plans include zoning regulations, city maps, lists of city facilities, proposed changes in the city and growth projections.

Ron Yersak, director of planning said that the planning commission will receive $32,000 in funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1975 for regional planning. State funds will total $24,000 with the remaining $8,000 coming from local sources.

The Economic Development Council approved three water and sewer projects to be completed with funding from the U. S. Economic Development Agency. Funding was approved for the water and sewer and access road for the expansion of Morehouse Manufacturing Co. Also approved was a $900,000 project for the Malden Industrial Park and a $120,000 project for water and sewers for motels to be built near Interstate 55 at Hayti.

The project review committee gave permission for three area projects to apply for funding: a public employment program for New Madrid, a Missouri Solid Waste Management program and the Bernie Park project.

Moody Summit, director of the Comprehensive Health Council, reported that although a recent feasibility study stated there was no need for a nursing home in Mississippi County, the council is prepared to document that there is a need and is ready to go to court to prove that need.

He also said the health council is currently trying to obtain federal funding for the Emergency Medical Service. A meeting will be held Aug. 23 with Donald O'Keane of Kansas City, a representative from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to find out what will be asked for in an application for funds.

In other business employes of BEDC and BRPC received a five per cent salary increase.

Louie Hirschowitz of Oran was appointed to the resource, conservation and development committee.

L. F. Wheeler of Miner reminded mayors present that regional planning assessment dues are now due.

Financial reports were studied and approved.

Court to name port board

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that a temporary county port authority advisory committee will be appointed Monday to help determine the feasibility and method of obtaining a river port for Southeast Missouri.

A permanent committee will be named Aug. 3.

The court accepted a $24,084 bid from Chaffee Building Co. for the remodeling and refurnishing of the Circuit Court room in the County courthouse.

The court granted the bid on the condition money is received from the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistance Council who has said it will help finance 90 per cent of the project. Tentative approval has been received from the state LEAC in Jefferson City.

Another condition of the bid is that the carpeting contract be awarded to L. F. Wheeler of Miner.

Other bids received by the court were from Imperial Interiors Co. of Cape Girardeau, $29,890; and Modern Floor Covering of Sikeston, $30,350.

An attorney for Sam Tanksley Trucking Co. of Scott City appeared before the court and asked if the 1973 assessment of $445,000 would remain the same during 1974.

The judges said the company's assessment would have to be raised to $525,000. This was a $79,000 increase.

Primary voters must be 18

BENTON — Scott County Clerk Bob Kielhofner announced today that according to a Missouri Supreme Court decision concerning voting age requirements 17- year- olds who will be 18 on or before the date of the upcoming general election, will not be able to vote in the Aug. 6 primary election.

According to Kielhofner it had been reported earlier that residents who would be 18 on or before the general election date, Nov. 6 were eligible to vote on Aug. 6. However a more recent decision has reversed a Missouri Attorney General's opinion concerning the age requirement, he added. The court decision states that Missouri residents must be at least 18 to vote in any election.

The earlier opinion stated that Missouri residents must be 18 on or before the date of the general election in order to vote.

Kielhofner said some residents who are 17, and will be 18 on or before the election date, have already registered to vote.

Although they will not be able to vote Aug. 6, their registration is still valid and they will not have to register again.

CAPTIVE NATION'S WEEK

You've probably never even heard about it. It's one of those embarrassments the Nixon Administration would very much like to sweep under the detente rug. Not polite and all that in this era of good feeling and reconciliation which we're supposed to be enjoying with the Soviet Union.

Nevertheless, July 14-20 is Captive Nations' Week. It's the 15th anniversary of the Captive Nations' Resolution passed by Congress and signed into law by President Eisenhower in July 1959. It calls for the annual proclamation of the third week in July as a time in which this nation may honor those "captive nations" which have lost their liberty under the heel of Communist dictatorships.

The list is a long one, including not only the states of Eastern Europe which fell under Soviet domination after World War II, but also the many once independent, non-Russian peoples who live within the Soviet boundaries — proud nations like the Ukraine, Armenia, Georgia, Turkestan, Azerbaijan, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and others.

When the Week was first proclaimed, Richard Nixon, then Vice President, visited the Soviet Union and felt the wrath of Premier Khruschev who declared, "It stinks and is provocative." Unhindered by any effective action from the U.S., Khrushchev and his successors went on trampling on the rights of other peoples by such infamies as the erection of the Berlin Wall in 1961 and the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968. Other nations now threaten to join the captives — South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, and possibly South Korea and Taiwan if the U.S. continues to pull away from its commitments to those countries.

Accommodating compromise is now the order of the day for U. S. policy makers, and so it is not a happy time for the cause of liberty in the Captive Nations. But, in noting Captive Nations' Week, perhaps we could let it serve as a sobering reminder that there are those in this country, as well as abroad, whose supreme objective is still to add the United States itself to the list of captive nations.

DOCTOR KNOWS BEST

Medical science has discovered yet another wonder drug — sugar. Not the kind you sprinkle on your breakfast cereal but the kind used in fake pills called placebos.

Chemically, of course, sugar is sugar, but when administered by a doctor in a medical setting (and when the patient does not know it is just sugar), it can have dramatic curative effects — so much so that "doctors should treat the placebo as a standard item in the physician's black bag."

That's the opinion of one authority, Dr. Frederick J. Evans, a psychologist with the Institute of the Pennsylvania Hospital and the University of Pennsylvania.

"An impressive amount of clinical information shows the placebo is an active and potent method of relieving pain in its own right," he says in an article entitled "The Power of the Sugar Pill" in Psychology Today magazine.

It has been found, for instance, that the sugar pill or placebo is half as effective as a standard dose of morphine in about one-third of patients. Paradoxically, studies also show that it is half as effective as the most popular over- the - counter painkiller, aspirin.

Interestingly, when a doctor himself is not aware that he is giving a placebo but believes he is using a powerful painkiller, the result is a strong placebo effect. If, however, the physician assumes that the analgesic is mild, the result is a much smaller placebo effect.

It has also been found that two placebo pills or capsules work better than one and that either a very large brown or purple pill or a very small, bright red or yellow one are more effective than other size and color combinations.

Obviously, the power of suggestion has something to do with all this, yet careful studies have failed to find any relationship between suggestibility or gullibility and sensitivity to placebos.

Nevertheless, Evans sums up, "When the doctor is convinced that the drug will work and when the patient believes it will, and believes that what the doctor is doing makes sense, then positive results will likely occur."

THIS LAW MAY BE NEEDED

Most of us agree that we already probably have too many laws - and not enough enforcement. But friends of ours in labor unions say there is one more that is sorely needed.

Such a law, they suggest, would make it illegal for union leaders to provide financial help to candidates.

They point out that union members pay the money into the union treasury, but have little if anything to say about what candidate will be backed with that money. They argue that often their money is used for candidates whom they do not like or want to see elected, and that heads of their organizations should not be allowed to spend the money of members, without the consent or approval of the member.

Sounds reasonable.

PREACHER ON VACATION

The old man went to meetin', for the day was bright and fair,

Though his limbs were very tottering, and 'twas hard to travel there:

But he hungered for the gospel, so he trudged the weary way,

On the road so rough and dusty, 'neath the summer's burning ray.

By and by he reached the building, to his soul a holy place,

Then he paused and wiped the sweat-drops off his thin and wrinkled face;

But he looked around bewildered, for the old bell did not toll,

All the doors were shut and bolted, and he did not see a soul.

So he leaned upon his crutches,and he said, "What does it mean?"

And he looked this way and that, till it seemed almost a dream;

He had walked the dusty highway, and he breathed a heavy sigh,

Just to go once more to meetin' ere the summons came to die.

But he saw a littly notice tacked upon the meeting' door,

So he limped along to read it, and he read it o'er and o'er,

Then he wiped his dusty glasses, and he read it o'er agai ,

Till his limbs begin to tremble and his eyes begin to pain.

As the old man read the notice, how it made his spirit burn,

"Pastor absent on vacation; church is closed till his return."

Then he staggered slowly backward, and he sat him down to think,

For his soul was stirred within him, till he tought his heart would sink.

So he mused aloud and wondered, to himself soliloquized;

"I have lived to almost eighty, and was never so surprised,

As I read that oddest notice stickin' on the meetin' door,

'Pastor off on a vacation; 'never heard the like before.

"Why when I first joined the meetin', very many years ago,

Preachers traveled on the circuit, in the heat and through the snow;

If they got their clothes and victuals, 'twas little cash they got,

They said nothing 'bout vacation, but were happy with their lot.

"Would the farmer leave his cattle, or the shepherd leave his sheep?

Who would give them care and shelter, or provide them food to eat?

So it strikes me very sing'lar, when a man of holy hands

Thinks he needs to have vacation, and forsake his tender lambs.

"Tell me when I tread the valley and go up the shining height,

Will I hear no angel's singing—will I see no gleaming light?

Will the golden harps be silent—will I meet no welcome there?

Why, the thought is most distractin', 'twould be more than I could bear.

"Tell me when I reach the city over on the other shore,

Will I find a little notice tacked upon the golden door,

Telling' me 'mid dreadful silence, writ in word that cut and burn,

'Jesus absent on vacation, Heaven closed 'til His return?"

The Fil-Thermo-Vac system breaks up oil- water emulsions without affecting desirable inhibitors or extended purpose additives. It can be operated at full flow, for 100 per cent water removal in the effluent, or as a by-pass system for varying levels of water removal.

BALANCING NEEDS

Popular movements always have a tendency to go to extremes. So it has been with preserving wilderness areas including millions of acres of commercial forest lands. By "preserving," wilderness advocates mean locking these areas away from all use except by those husky enough to visit them on foot or horseback. The question is, can the nation afford an excess of such preservation in the name of perpetuating wilderness areas?

A spokesman for a major timber company discusses the drive to include some 40 million acres of roadless areas managed by the Forest Service in the national forest wilderness system. He shows the impact the designation of these acres as wilderness would have on the state of Washington, where some three million acres out of the state's 9.7 million acres of national forests are subject to wilderness classification. Already the Forest Service and the forest industry have agreed on 384,000 acres as properly subject to wilderness - use study. However, the balance of the three million acres contains some 33 billion board feet capable of sustaining an annual allowable cut of 335 million board feet. This volume, according to the timber company spokesman, sustains some 3,720 basic jobs in Washington's timber industry which are backed up by some 7,400 service and trade jobs -- a total of 11,200 jobs. The 25 per cent of receipts, which are to be used for roads and schools, contributes some $2.25 million annually to 23 counties of the state.

It is difficult to see how any state or the nation can scatter an asset of this size to the four winds. As the timber company spokesman concludes, "The basic question in this dispute is how much of our forests are required to satisfy the material and spiritual needs of our people nown and in the future. We need some wilderness areas, but there is a point where further wilderness additions will be detrimental to the general welfare ..."

A REAL MIRACLE

A man in Africa had a frightening experience. He lost his guide, wandered into the jungle and suddenly was surrounded by hostile natives.

He remembered a trick he'd seen in an old movie so he dug in his pocket for his cigarette lighter, pulled it out, flicked it once and a big flame popped up.

All of the natives, including the chief, became wide- eyed as they saw the flame dancing on the end of the little box. The chief advanced toward the lost hunter, looking steadily at the box. He broke the silence with his hushed voice, "It's a miracle. I've never seen a lighter that worked the first time.

A voice behind him said, "The trouble is in the carburetor." He turned around, but saw only an old horse. "I said you better check the carburetor," repeated the horse.

Rushing to the nearest farm house, the man related his experience to a farmer.

"Was it an old bay horse with a flop ear?" asked the farmer.

"Yes, yes, that's the one," babbled the man.

"Well, don't pay no attention to him," said the farmer. "He don't know nothing about automobiles anyway."

"ANTI-POVERTY" PROGRAM TO CONTINUE

The House of Representatives has voted to continue the controversial "anti- poverty" program, to the tune of $3.76 billion. Although the House voted to disband the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), its major programs were transferred to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Many radical programs will continue under the new arrangement. Farleft activist organizations will receive money for lobbying, demonstrations, boycotts and picketing. "Neighborhood centers" will promote programs like the radical legal services; consumer protection, which is often a cover for harassment of businesses; and child development programs, which give the government control over children.

OEO was originally set up with great fanfare to "help the poor." Many well- meaning people supported it for that reason, but in its 10 years of existence, the program did far more harm than good. Many who support continuance of these programs do so simply out of self- interest, to preserve the bureaucracy which OEO set up and to keep in existence the many radical organizations supported by axpayers' money.

This legislation is particularly ill- advised at a time when the federal budget deficit is so high that inflation is out of control. Our economy cannot be restored to health so long as these wasteful and useless programs continue. If Congress really wants to help the poor, it should eliminate federal "war on poverty" programs and allow local communities to meet the needs of their people. HLH

Free Press Issue: TV-Radio Broadcast Union backs Chavez Declares Open War on Teamsters

WASHINGTON — Slowly the farmworkers' battle in California's salad fields and valleys is seeping deep into American labor -- raising tempests, tempers and complex issues. Now it has cut sharply into the broadcasting arena. The traditionally gentle American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA, AFL-CIO) has declared open combat against the huge Teamsters union by calling on its members to back Cesar Chavez's boycott of Gallo wine table grapes and Western iceberg head lettuce picked by Frank Fitzsimmons's Brotherhood.

Delegates to AFTRA's convention the other day cheered Chavez's quiet and eloquent talk of tribulations into which he and his followers have run. And AFTRA leaders have "Pledged to enlist the talent and resources of the actors and announcers among its 29,000 members to tell the story of the United Farm Workers boycott and its struggle for survival to the American people."

During AFTRA's Denver convention, national executive secretary Sanford (Bud) Wolff said that the union would "make available to Cesar Chavez the services of our professional performers for the purpose of making public announcements and even paid commercials free of charge to assist the UFW."

Wolff, an erstwhile Chicago lawyer, was backed by union president Ken Harvey, a popular CBS actor.

There are serious issues here goring their way right to the gut of the controversy over freedom of the media. And I write as an AFTRA member. I've worked with Bud Wolff. I voted for president Harvey. I note they have chosen their words well. They will "enlist" talent and resources of actors and announcers.

But it isn't clear whether or not they have put all of AFTRA on record in this bitter jurisdictional dispute between the Teamsters and the United Farm Workers. It isn't clear whether or not news commentators are eliminated from this crusade for Chavez. And what sharp line limns the announcers? Do they never broadcast new items? Or interpret them? Presumably not. But doesn't Bud Wolff's and Ken Harvey's empathy enlist all of AFTRA -- including hundreds of reporters and interpretive commentators and anchor men?

Didn't the emotional delegates, cheering Chavez, actually put the entire union behind him? And what of Wolff's enthusiastic statement that AFTRA delegates would:

"... go back to Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, Washington and other cities and begin to work in preparing recorded announcements telling the public about conditions that Chavez is trying to overcome: a maternity death rate 250 per cent higher among farmworkers than other Americans; an infant mortality rate 125 per cent higher; a life span 20 years shorter than the national average; indiscriminate use of pesticides that poison those who harvest crops; no portable toilets in the fields."

Certainly fighting those conditions puts this broadcast union on the side of decency. But the statement, by inference, projects the Teamsters against such a battle and apparently for the indecencies. Is that true?

One thing is certain -- these statements by a union representing 29,000 performers, announcers and newsmen declares open war on the Teamsters. As an AFTRA member, I'll pick my own wars. I haven't been shy. I've taken on the Teamsters before and may well again issue by issue.

What does this do when the public views Fitzsimmons being grilled on NBC's "Meet the Press" or the "Today" show by AFTRA newsmen? What does it do to our professional image? Or mine, when I question a Teamster, or anyone, during an hour- long radio talk show or swift TV interview? Or when I or my colleagues quote a Teamster or leaders in other unions which Wolff and Harvey have implicated in this boycott?

Their call for rejection of Gallo wine is a product boycott. It affects the glass bottle blowers union, the retail clerks and the distillery workers unions. It throws a union of professional performers and newsmen right smack into the intricacies and bitterness of jurisdictional warfare.

A broadcast union, because of the sheer magic of its members' imagery, puts all its people on record when it takes a position. This means we go into the spotlight with a propaganda label across the tube. Actors now are called on to identify with one product against another. And a union's rank- and- file, it seems to me, elects its officers to bargain for wages, fringes and working conditions -- not to put them on record in a jurisdictional feud.

It's no reflection on the Amalgamated Clothing Workers union when I say their support of the football players strike differs from a performer and broadcasters' union propaganda position. Nor is the Ladies Garment Union analogous to us in the newsfield union when the needleworkers take a position. On April 12 Fitzsimmons wrote to all union presidents saying that those who boycott his union will be considered enemies of the Teamsters. Thus the news and performers broadcasting union is thrown into an inner labor vortex.

The issue here is not Chavez. The issue is voluntarism. Any group of actors could, and have, whipped up committees. But a union which includes thousands of newsmen should not take an official position on a constantly breaking news story, I believe.

A fight to enrich the lives of farmworkers, si! A stand, which could compromise the image of objectivity of a newsman's union with the public, no!

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Oil Men Tried to Block War Aid to Israel

WASHINGTON — Locked in the secret White House files is evidence that four American oil companies supported Arab interests against their own country during the Arab-Israeli war last October.

At the height of the fighting, the chairmen of Exxon, Mobil, Texaco and Standard of California signed a joint memo to President Nixon and rushed it by special messenger to the White House.

The memo, which was delivered on October 12, clearly was timed to influence the President against sending military aid to Israel. The oilmen correctly warned that Saudi Arabia and Kuwiat would retaliate by cutting back oil production.

Added the memo prophetically: "There is a high probability that a single action taken by one producer government against the United States would have a snowballing effect that would produce a major petroleum supply crisis."

The President didn't read the memo, however, until after he had already ordered a massive, emergency armslift to Israel on October 14.

The Arab oil producers struck back, one after another, with an embargo against the United States. The greatest of the oil sheiks Saudi Arabia's King Faisal, halted oil shipments to the United States on October 20.

The Saudi embargo was administered and enforced by the four American companies which together form the Arabian American Oil Company (Aramco). When King Faisal banned oil deliveries to U.S. military forces, the four companies scrupulously carried out the king's order.

The supreme irony is that the four Aramco partners had amassed hundreds of millions of dollars in tax credits and oil subsidies from the American taxpayers for the specific purpose of preserving Saudi oil for U.S. defense.

Yet Exxon, Mobil, Texaco and Standard of California, putting profits ahead of patriotism, didn't hesitate to withhold Suadi oil from the U.S. armed forces at the snap of King Faisal's finger.

The four oil giants were put on notice by the king at a secret meeting in Geneva on May 23, 1973. He had come to Switzerland for a rest after visiting Cairo when President Anwar Sadat had put pressure on him to use oil as a weapon against the West.

The king told representatives of the four American companies, according to an intelligence report, that he didn't intend to let Saudi Arabia's traditional friendship with the United States isolate his country from the Arab world.

Unless the Aramco partners brought pressure on the U.S. government to change its Middle East policy, he warned, they could lose their Saudi oil concessions. He called upon them to impress this message upon both the U.S. public and U.S. leaders.

"Time is running out," the king declared, emphasizing repeatedly that "you could lose everything."

With this warning still echoing in their ears, the oilmen became panicky when the United States showed favoritism for Israel during the October war. The four chairmen -- J. K. Jamieson, Exxon; Rawleigh Warner Jr., Mobil; M. F. Granville, Texaco; and Otto N. Miller,Standard of California -- drafted a blunt "Memorandum to the President" on October 12.

They turned it over to Aramco's politically potent counsel, John J. McCloy, who sent it by messgnger to the White House staff chief, Gen. Alexander Haig.

In a covering letter, McCloy explained: "The chief Aramco shareholders with large concessionary interests in Saudi Arabia wish to have this brief memorandum summarizing the critical situation in regard to the flow of oil supplies from the Middle Wast placed in the President's hands as soon as possible."

The memo warned that "the Arab negotiators in Vienna have stated that their governments were angered by the speech of Ambassador (John) Scati before the United Nations which they interpreted as a clear expression of support of the Israeli position ...

"They also report that a request from the United States to King Faisal that he urge Arab combatants to retire to (the pre- attack) ceasefire line produced great irritation. We have been told that the Saudis will impose some cut- back in crude oil production as a result of the United States position taken thus far.

"A further and much more substantial move will be taken by Saudi Arabia and Kuwait in the event of further evidence of increased U.S. support of the Israeli position.

"We are convinced of the seriousness of the intentions of the Saudis and Kuwaitis and that any actions of the U.S. government at this time in terms of increased military aid to Israel will have a critical and adverse effect on our relations with the moderate Arab producing countries."

Raising the familiar cry of national security, the chairmen pleaded that "much more than our commercial interests in the area is now at hazard." The real stakes, they pleaded, were "both our economy and our security."

Not long afterward, they joined in undermining U.S. security in the Middle East by cutting off Saudi oil to American planes and ships.

Footnote: We contacted the offices of the four oil chairmen. Their spokesmen contended that the memo was not intended to meddle in U.S. foreign policy but merely to alert President Nixon to the facts.

Warehouses store rationing coupons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emergency gasoline rationing coupons printed during the recent energy crisis are stored in secret warehouses in case of future shortages, the Federal Energy Administration said today.

The 4.8 billion coupons have been a source of embarrassment for the FEA since Rep. Bill Gunter, D-Fla., disclosed in May that they could be used to trigger dollar change making machines.

The coupons contain an image of George Washington. The identical image appears on dollar bills.

An FEA spokesman said the coupons, which cost $12.5 million to print, have been stored in several government-owned warehouses across the nation. He declined to specify the locations, but said all were in "secure locations guarded by such government agencies as the Defense Supply Agency, the Federal Reserve and the Bureau of the Mint."

The spokesman claimed little or no money was involved in the storage since all of the facilities are government-owned.

He said the coupons were transported to their storage facilities "in armored vehicles and treated with the same care as currency."

The spokesman said FEA felt the chances of anyone breaking into the government-guarded facilities and stealing the coupons were minimal.

Gunter had claimed the FEA would have to destroy the coupons to keep them from being used change machines.

Rehabilitation division scores record year

JEFFERSON CITY — Another record year has been scored by the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, William H. Keith, assistant commissioner, reported today.

Preliminary figures indicate that 8,306 physically and/or mentally handicapped Missourians were rehabilitated during the fiscal year ending June 30. That figure represents an increase of 634 or 8.2 per cent over the 7,672 who were rehabilitated in fiscal year 1973, the previous record year.

Special emphasis continues to be exerted toward the rehabilitation of eligible individuals who are recipients of public assistance, and there has been substantial progress in that area also, Keith said. During the past year, he noted, 1,963 public assistance recipients were rehabilitated, an increase of 310 over the previous year. The public assistance needs of these individuals were either eliminated altogether or were reduced through their experiences with vocational rehabilitation.

Significant growth was noted also in the Cooperative School- Work Program operated by the vocational rehabilitation and special education divisions of the department in cooperation with local school districts. More school districts each year are participating in this program, which serves educable mentally retarded youngsters of high school age. The cases of 685 of these students were closed as rehabilitated during the past year, and the number of students receiving services through this program increased to 2,754, compared with 2,449 a year earlier.

Expert says nuclear plants clean, safe

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — One of the state's nuclear experts has contended that despite claims by nuclear power plant critics, such facilities are actually safer than conventional utility operations.

Robert Carter, professor of nuclear and electrical engineering at the Universiy of Missouri, says nuclear plants, such as the one proposed by Union Electric for construction near Fulton, "are cleaner and safer than conventional power plants."

While acknowledging that there is ono way to assure absolute safety from potential malfunctions, Carter points out, "up to this point, nuclear plants have the best safety record of any area of industry."

With maximum safeguards built into construction standards for such plants, Carter notes that there have been no major accidents at any nuclear plant in the United States, where there are 42 operating, 56 in the construction phase and another 101 on the drawing board.

There is also no perceptible increase in radiation exposure for persons to close proximity to a nuclear power planted, Carter says.

While some opponents of nuclear power expansion claim there is a potential for takeover of nuclear plants by subversive for use in so-called "nuclear blackmail," Carter discounts that possibility.

"I can't say that sabotage would never happen," the professor says, pointing to increased attention to security at nuclear plants, "but it is extremely unlikely to ever occur."

If approved by both federal and state officials, the Union Electric plant would include two generators with the first scheduled for initial operation in 1981.

The Missouri Public Service Commission has set Sept. 5 for a public hearing on the utility's proposal.

The Goodwill Club spans 38 years

The Goodwill Club, originally formed on June 29, 1936, to create an awareness in the black neighborhood of the many problems which faced blacks and how these problems could be eliminated by working together, has expanded in its 38-year history to many useful duties for the entire city of Sikeston.

A special program has been planned at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Bethel AME Church, located at the corner of Westgate and North streets, to honor Mrs. Eula Burns, founder, and the club's success.

Organized by Mrs. Burns, who was elected president for the first term, the club started out to be an aid mostly to the sick and distressed in the black neighborhood, Sunset.

Other first officers are recorded as follows: Martha Daniel, secretary; Bertha Hilber, treasurer; Elnora Pride, manager; and Delida Jordan, Etta B. Winter, Mattie Ederson and Laverna Trice are supporting members.

There was no available meeting place for the club, so Girard (Heavy) Hunt permitted the women to use his barber shop to hold their first meeting. From these beginnings, The Goodwill Club has progressed steadily.

Members agreed to pay $1 a week while another member was sick and also to visit the disabled members. After an illness of six weeks the club would pay $2 per month as long as the member was ill.

In the 38 years of existence the purpose had to be expanded. It has become a community wide public service agency. It serves not only the black community but the white as well.

It has consistently made contributions to community betterment projects such as United Fund, Heritage House, Red Cross, March of Dimes, local churches and hospitals, and others.

In September, 1959, Mrs. Burns and the Goodwill Club called attention to the practice of segregation of patients in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Visiting the sick, shut-in and hospitalized they observed that Negro men and women patients were being housed in the same room. A letter of complaint was written to Harold Jones, administrator of the hospital. He responded promptly admitting that this was an unfortunate situation but as soon as the purposed building program was completed, different arrangements would be made throughout the hospital to give better service to every patient, regardless of color.

In response to this letter in November, 1959, The Goodwill Club sent a check of $100 to Delta Community Hospital and pledged to continue to support the hospital both morally and financially.

Recently there has been a number of government-funded programs for helping children who are behind in their school work during the summer.

Mrs. Eula Burns

The Goodwill Club was the first to offer free summer school in the Sunset Community. In 1959-1960 the club hired teachers to conduct a six weeks summer program. This program was approved by Lynn Twitty, then superintendent of schools.

The constructing of sidewalks in the Sunset Community was another pioneering project of The Goodwill Club. At their first meeting, Mayor Kendall Sikes (retired) gave one sidewalk and Raymert Miller, City Manager (also retired) gave two. The program has now expanded to most of the community.

With the coming of the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic for mental retardation, The Goodwill Club responded again by making jackets for the children.

It was The Goodwill Club that petitioned the mayor and city officials to enforce the curfew law in the Sunset Community for the protection of children.

In another effort to participate in "Community Betterment" The Goodwill Club purchased a share in the Sikeston Industrial Development Company.

Annually, The Goodwill Club assists the Sikeston Jaycees in the distribution of toys in the Sikeston area at Christmas time. Its own Christmas project consists of giving food baskets to local senior citizens.

Mrs. Burns came to Sikeston in 1922, from Baton Rouge, La. She completed Maid Training in 1940 and was awarded a certificate from the Department of Public Schools of Missouri, vocational division.

She was awarded a plaque by the Missourian's Men's Club for Outstanding Service in the Community.

Presently, she is affiliated with the following organizatons: Heritage House, Sikeston City Park Board, Westend Baptist Church, Order of the Eastern Star, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Church Women United and Sikeston Recovery Inc.

Questionaire lets housewives decide if they are alcoholics

Dear Ann Landers: Millions of housewives in this country would be shocked if someone called them alcoholics. But they are. Members of the Kansas City area National Council On Alcoholism have prepared a questionnaire (with help from the Michigan chapter) and we want to give it as much exposure as possible. We hope you'll print it.

Here are 20 questions. Any woman who answers "Yes" to more than half is probably alcoholic.

1. Do you try to get someone to buy liquor for you because you are ashamed to buy it yourself?

2. Do you buy liquor at different places so no one will know how much you purchase?

3. Do you hide the empties and dispose of them secretly?

4. Do you plan in advance to "reward" yourself with a little drinking bout after you've worked very hard in the house?

5. Are you often permissive with your children because you feel guilty about the way you behaved when you were drinking?

6. Do you have "blackouts," periods about which you remember nothing?

7. Do you ever phone the hostess of a party the next day and ask if you hurt anyone's feelings or made a fool of yourself?

8. Do you find cigaret holes in your clothes or the furniture and can't remember when it happened?

9. Do you take an extra drink or two before leaving for a party when you know liquor will be served thre?

10. Do you often wonder if anyone knows how much you drink?

11. Do you feel wittier or more charming when you are drinking?

12. Do you feel panicky when faced with non-drinking days, such as a visit to out-of-town relatives?

13. Do you invent social occasions for drinking, such as inviting friends for lunch, cocktails or dinner?

14. When others are present, do you avoid reading articles or seeing movies or TV shows about women alcoholics but read and watch when no one is around?

15. Do you ever carry liquor in your purse?

16. Do you become defensive when someone mentions your drinking?

17. Do you become irritated when unexpected guests reduce your liquor supply?

18. Do you drink when under pressure or after an argument?

19. Do you try to cover up when you can't remember promises and feel ashamed when you misplace or lose things?

20. Do you drive even though you've been drinking but feel certain you are in complete control of yourself?

Be honest. If your score says you're alcoholic, call the National Council On Alcoholism or Alcoholics Anonymous. They are listed in the phone book. -- Doris S. and Jane J. (Alcoholic Counselors)

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Dr. William H. Taft

FOR JULY 21, 1974

Scripture:
Philippians 1:11;4:10-13

PARTNERSHIP IN THE GOSPEL

Paul advised his followers that they were always in his heart. He prayed that they would use their "true knowledge and perfect judgment" to select the best life.

Thus Paul emphasized the partnership role between God and His followers. He also stressed the need for all of us to care enough to be involved.

Although we are born as an individual we are constantly involved in relationship with others. As individuals we find it easier to practice Christianity that is within large groups.

Paul wanted to share his feelings for God with all who would listen to him. He was eager to write the Philippians and thank them for all of their work for him.

Paul was a leader. Unfortunately, today the world is extremely short of such leaders. We do have some who try to lead yet they fail because they too often ignore the needs of their followers.

And, unfortunately, there are those who say they are followers yet they fail to accept any responsibilities to promote the cause.

The Philippian church had some real leaders. Normally Paul supported himself at his trade. The believers in Philippi wanted to "enter into partnership" with him by supplying some of his needs.

Philippian is a thank-you letter from the imprisoned Paul to a group he really loved. He admired the unity displayed by this congregation witnessing, prayer, and giving.

In his years working for God Paul had learned to be humble and to be able to live contently with whatever he possessed. He had learned too that any project succeeds best when the individuals function as a united group.

Any church to be successful must be sure that all members follow Paul's teachings here. Today we find churches debating internal problems. Some members debate the role of the church should take in relationship to current problems.

When Paul saw how concerned his church was to spread Christianity he rejoiced. Today's ministers also rejoice when their members unite on a worthwhile project to serve the people.

Spiritual growth and development were Paul's goals for all. In the first chapter of Philippians Paul provides a prayer for his people, stressing the need for abounding love, discernment and purity.

Why should today's Christians read these ancient letters by Paul? They need his advice. They need his reassurance of what God has promised us. They need his leadership.

Paul likewise offered aid for everyone who has suffered in any way. The reader must remember that Paul was in prison, yet he was more concerned about his followers than he was about his own future.

He realized that all persons need others to help them through the problems of the times.

Norman Cousins said in 1950 that, "The iron walls of the self may be torn down in a magnificent triumph of common purpose and common conscience as men discover they are but single cells in a larger and common body."

Christians too are "but single cells in a larger and common body." Paul experienced many obstacles in his struggles to bring together the new believers into a church.

Yet on all occasions Paul refused to be defeated by obstacles and delays. Always he turned to God for guidance, writing, "I can do all things in Him who strengthens me."

Paul and his people were partners in prayer, in suffering, in service, and in spiritual growth. Prayer is possible for everyone. It provides a way for one to amend his ways of living.

Frequently one suffers in his desire to be closer to God. Such pains have been called "the birth-throes of transition to better things."

One can possibly be a Christian alone, but he will become a better Christian in partnership with others sharing similar goals.

Wilkerson said the film is based on insights he received from God in April. "I saw come to the United States and the world a terrible recession, a major earthquake, worldwide famine, a flood of filth on TV and on the newsstands, hatred against parents by teenagers and a persecution madness directed against all Jesus people," he said.

Wilkerson, executive producer, said "The purpose of the film is to awaken the young and old alike to the reality and nearness of the coming of Christ. This dynamic film has such an impact that every viewer will have to decide what he must do about Christ's imminent return."

Admission is free and the Rev. T. A. McDonough, pastor of the Calvary Assembly of God Church, invites the public to attend.

Woods arraigned; faces charge of molesting a minor

CHARLESTON — A. D. Woods, 60, of Charleston Route One, was arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court on a charge of molesting a minor with immoral intent. The case was continued to July 25 by Judge T. J. Brown Jr. to allow Woods time to employ an attorney.

Woods, who remains in custody under $2,500 bond, is accused of indulging in degrading, lewd and immoral practices and taking indecent and improper liberties with his nine- year- old step-granddaughter. The incident reportedly occurred on July 14 at Woods' home.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Aug. 29 for James Poyner of Charleston, charged with felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Poyner, who is free on $2,000 bond, is accused of assaulting Jamie Small July 5 with a chain from a chain saw.

A preliminary hearing for Willie James "Bango" Evans of Charleston, charged with breaking jail and escaping before conviction and stealing involving breaking and entering, was set for July 25. Evans, who escaped briefly from Deputy Robert Smith July 5 after he was taken to a dental appointment, was being held on the stealing charge in connection with the theft July 2 of $350 from the home of Mose White of Charleston. He remains in custody under $5,000 bond.

A charge of driving while intoxicated brought a $150 fine and a suspended 30- day jail sentence to Collis Ray Haddock of Bertrand. Haddock was also fined $50 on a charge of driving while his license was revoked. He was placed on one- year probation on condition he pay his fine and court costs by Aug. 22 and obey the law.

Mose White of Charleston pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and trial was set for Aug. 15. White was released on his own recognizance.

A misdemeanor charge of stealing against Roger Mannon of East Prairie was continued to July 25 after he entered a plea of not guilty and requested time to employ an attorney. The charge against Mannon stems from the theft of an $18 pair of boots from Fred's of Sikeston on July 9. Bond was set at $1,000.

Jack Achter of East Prairie received a suspended 30- day sentence on a disturbing the peace charge and was placed on one- year probation on condition he obey the law and pay court costs of $26.

A warrant was issued for Harvey H. Hull of Sikeston, who failed to appear on a speeding charge.

Inflation wins another round

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living rose one per cent in June as sharply higher prices for a wide range of consumer goods and services kept inflation soaring, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's figures underscored the bleak economic news Thursday from the Commerce Department which reported the economy underwent one of its most severe declines since World War II in the first half of the year.

The nation's output of goods and services—the Gross National Product—dropped between April and June for the second successive quarter of declines, the Commerce Department said. Some economists believe that two consecutive quarterly declines should be considered a recession. Other economists feel other factors must be considered.

The June rise in the consumer price index, announced today, was led by higher prices for new and used cars, medical care, mortgage interest costs, household durables and fresh fruits.

Food prices rose a seasonally adjusted three tenths of one per cent, a rate slightly more than usual for June but a much more moderate pace than in any other month this year with the exception of April when food prices fell four tenths of one per cent.

The June increase in consumer prices works out to an annual rate of 12 per cent. For the three months ending in June the pace of inflation soared at an adjusted annual rate of 10.9 per cent, according to the government figures.

Consumer prices last month rose to a level 11.1 per cent higher than a year ago, with the government's index at 147.1. This meant it cost $147.10 to purchase a variety of consumer goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

Nonfood items rose an adjusted 1.3 per cent, the sixth consecutive month of rapid rise. This was a reflection of sharply higher prices at wholesale which have continued to soar since price controls were dropped April 30.

Also up sharply last month were service costs which rose one per cent, the same as in May.

As has been the case for most of the past year, the spurt of inflation took another bite out of the purchasing power of the average production worker.

Real spendable earnings, or take-home pay adjusted for taxes and inflation, fell by three tenths of one per cent last month to a level 4.5 per cent below a year ago. Over the past year, the government has reported real spendable earnings dropped every month with the exception of May, September and July.

Leading the surge in nonfood prices was the rising cost of new automobiles which went up in June instead of declining as usual. Also up were prices for household goods, gasoline, fuel oil and clothing.

For the second quarter of the year, the consumer price index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 10.9 per cent, compared with 14.2 per cent in the preceding quarter. The rise in the food index slowed from a 19.4 per cent annual rate in the first quarter to 3.1 per cent in the April-June period, the smallest quarterly increase in two years, the government said.

The figures showed that although the gross national product rose in the last three months to an annual rate of $1.38 trillion, the value of those dollars eroded by 8.8 per cent because of higher prices. The result was that real output dropped 1.2 per cent.

Court to name port board

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that a temporary county port authority advisory committee will be appointed Monday to help determine the feasibility and method of obtaining a river port for Southeast Missouri.

A permanent committee will be named Aug. 3.

The court accepted a $24,084 bid from Chaffee Building Co. for the remodeling and refurnishing of the Circuit Court room in the County courthouse.

The court granted the bid on the condition money is received from the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistance Council who has said it will help finance 90 per cent of the project. Tentative approval has been received from the state LEAC in Jefferson City.

Another condition of the bid is that the carpeting contract be awarded to L. F. Wheeler of Miner.

Other bids received by the court were from Imperial Interiors Co. of Cape Girardeau, $29,890; and Modern Floor Covering of Sikeston, $30,350.

An attorney for Sam Tanksley Trucking Co. of Scott City appeared before the court and asked if the 1973 assessment of $445,000 would remain the same during 1974.

The judges said the company's assessment would have to be raised to $525,000. This was a $79,000 increase.

Comprehensive plans presented

MALDEN — The Bootheel Regional Planning Commission Thursday night presented its five- year comprehensive plans for Sikeston and Hayti Heights to the mayors of each city at a meeting at the BRPC office.

The comprehensive plans include zoning regulations, city maps, lists of city facilities, proposed changes in the city and growth projections.

Ron Yersak, director of planning said that the planning commission will receive $32,000 in funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1975 for regional planning. State funds will total $24,000 with the remaining $8,000 coming from local sources.

The Economic Development Council approved three water and sewer projects to be completed with funding from the U. S. Economic Development Agency. Funding was approved for the water and sewer and access road for the expansion of Morehouse Manufacturing Co. Also approved was a $900,000 project for the Malden Industrial Park and a $120,000 project for water and sewers for motels to be built near Interstate 55 at Hayti.

The project review committee gave permission for three area projects to apply for funding: a public employment program for New Madrid, a Missouri Solid Waste Management program and the Bernie Park project.

Moody Summit, director of the Comprehensive Health Council, reported that although a recent feasibility study stated there was no need for a nursing home in Mississippi County, the council is prepared to document that there is a need and is ready to go to court to prove that need.

He also said the health council is currently trying to obtain federal funding for the Emergency Medical Service. A meeting will be held Aug. 23 with Donald O'Keane of Kansas City, a representative from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to find out what will be asked for in an application for funds.

In other business employes of BEDC and BRPC received a five per cent salary increase.

Louie Hirschowitz of Oran was appointed to the resource, conservation and development committee.

L. F. Wheeler of Miner reminded mayors present that regional planning assessment dues are now due.

Financial reports were studied and approved.

Mayors accept plans

Primary voters must be 18

BENTON — Scott County Clerk Bob Kielhofner announced today that according to a Missouri Supreme Court decision concerning voting age requirements 17- year- olds who will be 18 on or before the date of the upcoming general election, will not be able to vote in the Aug. 6 primary election.

According to Kielhofner it had been reported earlier that residents who would be 18 on or before the general election date, Nov. 6 were eligible to vote on Aug. 6. However a more recent decision has reversed a Missouri Attorney General's opinion concerning the age requirement, he added. The court decision states that Missouri residents must be at least 18 to vote in any election.

The earlier opinion stated that Missouri residents must be 18 on or before the date of the general election in order to vote.

Kielhofner said some residents who are 17, and will be 18 on or before the election date, have already registered to vote.

Although they will not be able to vote Aug. 6, their registration is still valid and they will not have to register again.

Ballots ready for absentee vote in county

BENTON — County Clerk Bob Kielhofner announced today that Scott County residents wishing to vote in the Aug. 6 primary election by absentee ballot can begin doing so.

He said a place has been set up in the county clerk's office at the Scott County Courthouse for absentee balloting.

He also said those who desired to get their ballots by mail may write to him at his office stating their request for a ballot. He then would return a ballot to the person by registered mail. The voting party would mark the ballot, have it notarized and return it to the county clerk's office.

Kielhofner said that there will be only two ballots this year, the usual Democratic and Republican ballots.

Astros tee off on Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Houston Astros' Lee May, Milt May and Tommy Helms are hitting a collective .281 for the year, but against the St. Louis Cardinals it's .437.

And, spraying salvos as usual in every direction, the three ganged up on the hapless Cardinals again Thursday night in an 8-2 Astros National League runaway.

Four Cardinal errors, including three by Ken Reitz, contributed to a Houston onslaught sending St. Louis to its sixth successive loss.

But the bats of the two Mays and Helms, who combined for eight hits, were also prominent in a 13-hit assault off four Cardinal pitchers.

"I can't explain it. Everybody else is getting me out," said the massive Lee May, who powered his 16th home run to go with a two-run double and single.

"We get in streaks when I don't think it makes much difference who we're playing," noted Milt May, who added three singles and was intentionally walked.

Lee May's lusty performance boosted his year's production to four home runs and nine runs batted in against the Cardinals on 15 hits for a .405 average in nine games.

Milt May has 11 hits in 24 times at bat for a .458 mark and Helms, the Astros' scrappy second baseman, has 12 hits for .461.

"I can't buy a hit against the Pirates and Cubs," reflected Helms, who had two singles. "You just keep swinging and hope they fall. That's all you can do."

Houston, halting a loss string of its own at three games, snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh as singles by Helms and winning pitcher Claude Osteen, 9-7, ignited a six-run burst.

A rash of St. Louis miscues followed, the first by Reitz loading the bases on Greg Gross' sacrifice and the second by Joe Torre yielding the winning run.

Cesar Cedeno singled home another run off losing pitcher Lynn McGlothen, 12-6, Lee May's double made it 6-2 and another Reitz error and Larry Milbourne's single accounted for two more.

The stylish Osteen went the distance and permitted only two of St. Louis' eight hits following Lou Brock's two-run single in the fifth.

"He's a scientific type pitcher," his 23-year-old catcher, Milt May, observed. "He relies a lot on the movement of his fast ball. I think he makes the very most of the ability he has."

Dennis and Barbara Bayer of Festus combined a visit this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Willis of Sikeston, with some bass fishing at a private lake near Wickliffe, Ky. The couple used a spinner bait to haul in this 25- pound plus stringer. Weights on the fish caught Wednesday morning ran from 1½ to 4½ pounds.

Card cuts

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — Two rookie place kickers and a quarterback became the latest victims of roster cuts Thursday at the St. Louis Cardinals National Football League training camp.

Kickers Anthony Bent of St. John College, British Honduras, and Randy Vernetti of Western Illinois were released by the Cards, along with quarterback Bob Molina of Northeast Missouri State College, who failed his physical.

Joining the Big Red were free agent punter Hal Roberts and second-year defensive lineman Bonnie Sloan. Roberts, a rookie from Houston, was recently cut by the World Football League Houston Texans while Sloan saw partial action with the Cardinals in 1973.

The Cardinals, who now have 45 players in camp, continued two-a-day workouts in preparation for their exhibition opener with the Buffalo Bills in the July 27 Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio.

Southmen unbeaten

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Despite sweltering temperatures in the high 80's, 31,088 fans sat in on the Memphis Southmen's 16-8 World Football League victory over the Portland Storm Thursday night. Also joining in on the action was a television audience of over a million.

The victory raised the Southmen's WFL record to 2-0 while it kept the Storm winless in its two games.

Former Heisman Trophy winner, 34 year old John Huarte, engineered the Southmen victory with an unexpected aerial bombardment.

"The game plan didn't call for any more passes than last week, but the Portland defense just dictated pass," Huarte said.

So, Huarte, who completed seven of 13 a week ago against Detroit, hit 15 of 24 for 197 yards and two touchdowns against Portland.

Huarte, who played only sparingly with five NFL teams in 10 seasons before giving up football last season, was an all-American at Notre Dame.

His touchdown passes were for 42 yards to rookie wide receiver Jack Ettinger on Memphis' first possession and for 14 yards to receiver Ed Marshall late in the third quarter. Marshall's touchdown, set up by defensive back David Thomas' interception and 20 yard return to the Portland 17, broke an 8-8 deadlock.

The Storm scored its touchdown with 6:07 left in the third period on quarterback Greg Barton's 29 yard strike to rookie Sam Dickerson.

Ressell hurls 2-hit shutout

VANDUSER — Morehouse rallied for five runs in the sixth inning to remain alive in the Women's fast Pitch softball tournament here and defeat Oran 14-9 Thursday night.

Helen Ressell hurled a two hit shutout as New Hamburg defeated Benton 7-0 in a battle of unbeatens.

Tobie Hahn claimed the win for Morehouse and used the big bat of Pat May, who hit a pair of doubles, for the offensive sting.

Benton stayed close until the sixth, trailing only 1-0, before giving up a pair of runs in the sixth and four in the seventh.

Ruth Booker provided the big blow with a bases loaded triple in the seventh.

Tournament play resumes Saturday night with Vanduser battling Advance at 7:15 and Bloomfield going against Bell City at 8:45.

Three games are scheduled for Sunday, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Young leads stars

Sikeston's 13- year - old all- stars regrouped Thursday night after losing their district tournament opener 15-11 to Tri- County, crushing Dexter 24-10 behind the pitching of Jeff Young.

Jay Cox backed Young's three- hit performance with a four for four performance at the plate, including a triple.

The all- stars go against East Prairie at 7 p.m. tonight in the district event at Charleston.

Steve Burgess and Garlon Beaudean connected for a pair of doubles for the stars while young hit one and Cox tripled.

Owners yelled 'foul'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the National Football League owners and striking players meet again at the bargaining table today amid statements by both sides dripping with acrimony.

Federal mediator James Scearce called for resumption of negotiations Thursday in an effort to resolve the labor dispute and end the 19-day old strike.

During the past two days, harsh words were exchanged between the owners and the players over violation of an apparent agreement made with the federal mediator that substantive positions not be discussed in the news media.

The owners yelled "foul" Wednesday after the NFL Players Association held a news conference and proposed around-the-clock negotiations.

The union alo said that, failing a negotiated settlement, the economic issues should be submitted to binding arbitration and the controversial so-called freedom issues should be presented to a blue ribbon panel that would make factual determinations and recommendations.

The owners countered Thursday by holding a news conference during which they offered a total contract proposal, which John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, called the "largest money package ever offered in sports."

Bill Curry, union president, then issued a statement in which he said the proposal "is not a serious response to our demands.

"We will be at the bargaining table tomorrow (Friday) morning and continue to look forward to a response to our proposals with respect to the players' freedom," he said.

The freedom issues, which include elimination of the option and reserve clause, have been the major stumbling bloc in the negotiations that began March 21.

Thompson said the owners' offer, which would run to Sept. 15, 1978, would be worth almost $12.5 million in preseason salaries, pensions, insurance and Pro Bowl pay.

Under the proposal, players choosing to play out their options will do so at full salary, compared to the present level of 90 per cent. It also calls for an additional sum per year equal to 10 per cent of a players' base salary to be paid during the preseason period in equal weekly installments beginning the day on which a club's veterans are scheduled to report. This is subject to a minimum increase of $3,000 for veterans and a maximum salary of $10,000.

Minimum salary of $16,000 including preseason for veterans and $14,000 for rookies is also offered.

No mention of the freedom demands were made. In a letter to Scearce, Thompson said, "to the extent the demands of the union are not incorporated in our proposed collective bargaining agreement, they are rejected."

SHOULD YOUR "SECOND CAR" BE A NEW PICKUP?

MY DODGE BOYS HAVE THE ANSWER!
(AND IT'S PACKED WITH PLUS-VALUE FEATURES.)

DODGE SWEPTLINE PICKUP.

Dodge pickups have always been known for their great features such as double-wall construction, Electronic Ignition, and more. But did you know that the United States Auto Club recently conducted tests that showed what great gas mileage our Dodge pickups can get? It did.

The trucks tested were Dodge, Ford, and Chevy ½-ton jobs. Results were conclusive—our Dodge got better gas mileage than the Chevy and slightly better gas mileage than the Ford in highway driving. Not impressed? Consider this, the Dodge we're talking about was powered with a 318 V8 while the Ford and Chevy had standard six-cylinder engines!

Our 318 V8 delivered six-cylinder economy with V8 performance. No wonder Dodge has the pick of the pickups. Of course, the mileage you'll get depends on many things including how and where you drive and the condition of your truck.

CAPTIVE NATION'S WEEK

You've probably never even heard about it. It's one of those embarrassments the Nixon Administration would very much like to sweep under the detente rug. Not polite and all that in this era of good feeling and reconciliation which we're supposed to be enjoying with the Soviet Union.

Nevertheless, July 14-20 is Captive Nations' Week. It's the 15th anniversary of the Captive Nations' Resolution passed by Congress and signed into law by President Eisenhower in July 1959. It calls for the annual proclamation of the third week in July as a time in which this nation may honor those "captive nations" which have lost their liberty under the heel of Communist dictatorships.

The list is a long one, including not only the states of Eastern Europe which fell under Soviet domination after World War II, but also the many once independent, non-Russian peoples who live within the Soviet boundaries — proud nations like the Ukraine, Armenia, Georgia, Turkestan, Azerbaijan, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and others.

When the Week was first proclaimed, Richard Nixon, then Vice President, visited the Soviet Union and felt the wrath of Premier Khruschev who declared, "It stinks and is provocative." Unhindered by any effective action from the U.S., Khrushchev and his successors went on trampling on the rights of other peoples by such infamies as the erection of the Berlin Wall in 1961 and the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968. Other nations now threaten to join the captives — South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, and possibly South Korea and Taiwan if the U.S. continues to pull away from its commitments to those countries.

Accommodating compromise is now the order of the day for U. S. policy makers, and so it is not a happy time for the cause of liberty in the Captive Nations. But, in noting Captive Nations' Week, perhaps we could let it serve as a sobering reminder that there are those in this country, as well as abroad, whose supreme objective is still to add the United States itself to the list of captive nations.

DOCTOR KNOWS BEST

Medical science has discovered yet another wonder drug — sugar. Not the kind you sprinkle on your breakfast cereal but the kind used in fake pills called placebos.

Chemically, of course, sugar is sugar, but when administered by a doctor in a medical setting (and when the patient does not know it is just sugar), it can have dramatic curative effects — so much so that "doctors should treat the placebo as a standard item in the physician's black bag."

That's the opinion of one authority, Dr. Frederick J. Evans, a psychologist with the Institute of the Pennsylvania Hospital and the University of Pennsylvania.

"An impressive amount of clinical information shows the placebo is an active and potent method of relieving pain in its own right," he says in an article entitled "The Power of the Sugar Pill" in Psychology Today magazine.

It has been found, for instance, that the sugar pill or placebo is half as effective as a standard dose of morphine in about one-third of patients. Paradoxically, studies also show that it is half as effective as the most popular over- the - counter painkiller, aspirin.

Interestingly, when a doctor himself is not aware that he is giving a placebo but believes he is using a powerful painkiller, the result is a strong placebo effect. If, however, the physician assumes that the analgesic is mild, the result is a much smaller placebo effect.

It has also been found that two placebo pills or capsules work better than one and that either a very large brown or purple pill or a very small, bright red or yellow one are more effective than other size and color combinations.

Obviously, the power of suggestion has something to do with all this, yet careful studies have failed to find any relationship between suggestibility or gullibility and sensitivity to placebos.

Nevertheless, Evans sums up, "When the doctor is convinced that the drug will work and when the patient believes it will, and believes that what the doctor is doing makes sense, then positive results will likely occur."

State and local government tax collections increased more than 75 per cent in the five years between 1967 and 1972 -- from $61 billion to $109 billion, according to Tax Foundation.

On the average across the country the burden of state and local taxes rose from $308 to $522 per person in the period, increase of 69 per cent.

The percentage of increase in state and local taxes per capital over the five- year period was calculated from Bureau of Census figures as follows:

Kansas, $461 in 1972 compared to $215 in 1967, a 46 per cent increase.

Missouri, $425 in 1972 compared to $260 in 1967, a 63 per cent increase.

Nebraska, $453 in 1972 compared to $271 in 1967, a 67 per cent increase.

THIS LAW MAY BE NEEDED

Most of us agree that we already probably have too many laws - and not enough enforcement. But friends of ours in labor unions say there is one more that is sorely needed.

Such a law, they suggest, would make it illegal for union leaders to provide financial help to candidates.

They point out that union members pay the money into the union treasury, but have little if anything to say about what candidate will be backed with that money. They argue that often their money is used for candidates whom they do not like or want to see elected, and that heads of their organizations should not be allowed to spend the money of members, without the consent or approval of the member.

Sounds reasonable.

PREACHER ON VACATION

The old man went to meetin', for the day was bright and fair,

Though his limbs were very tottering, and 'twas hard to travel there:

But he hungered for the gospel, so he trudged the weary way,

On the road so rough and dusty, 'neath the summer's burning ray.

By and by he reached the building, to his soul a holy place,

Then he paused and wiped the sweat-drops off his thin and wrinkled face;

But he looked around bewildered, for the old bell did not toll,

All the doors were shut and bolted, and he did not see a soul.

So he leaned upon his crutches,and he said, "What does it mean?"

And he looked this way and that, till it seemed almost a dream;

He had walked the dusty highway, and he breathed a heavy sigh,

Just to go once more to meetin' ere the summons came to die.

But he saw a littly notice tacked upon the meeting' door,

So he limped along to read it, and he read it o'er and o'er,

Then he wiped his dusty glasses, and he read it o'er agai ,

Till his limbs begin to tremble and his eyes begin to pain.

As the old man read the notice, how it made his spirit burn,

"Pastor absent on vacation; church is closed till his return."

Then he staggered slowly backward, and he sat him down to think,

For his soul was stirred within him, till he tought his heart would sink.

So he mused aloud and wondered, to himself soliloquized;

"I have lived to almost eighty, and was never so surprised,

As I read that oddest notice stickin' on the meetin' door,

'Pastor off on a vacation; 'never heard the like before.

"Why when I first joined the meetin', very many years ago,

Preachers traveled on the circuit, in the heat and through the snow;

If they got their clothes and victuals, 'twas little cash they got,

They said nothing 'bout vacation, but were happy with their lot.

"Would the farmer leave his cattle, or the shepherd leave his sheep?

Who would give them care and shelter, or provide them food to eat?

So it strikes me very sing'lar, when a man of holy hands

Thinks he needs to have vacation, and forsake his tender lambs.

"Tell me when I tread the valley and go up the shining height,

Will I hear no angel's singing—will I see no gleaming light?

Will the golden harps be silent—will I meet no welcome there?

Why, the thought is most distractin', 'twould be more than I could bear.

"Tell me when I reach the city over on the other shore,

Will I find a little notice tacked upon the golden door,

Telling' me 'mid dreadful silence, writ in word that cut and burn,

'Jesus absent on vacation, Heaven closed 'til His return?"

LUBE AND SEAL OILS CAN BE RECLAIMED

The reclamation of lubricating and hydraulic seal oils is now possible with a new system developed by Keene Corp., Cookeville, Tenn. It could help alleviate the shortage of this type of oil and elimiante the disposal problem.

The Fil-Thermo-Vac system breaks up oil- water emulsions without affecting desirable inhibitors or extended purpose additives. It can be operated at full flow, for 100 per cent water removal in the effluent, or as a by-pass system for varying levels of water removal.

BALANCING NEEDS

Popular movements always have a tendency to go to extremes. So it has been with preserving wilderness areas including millions of acres of commercial forest lands. By "preserving," wilderness advocates mean locking these areas away from all use except by those husky enough to visit them on foot or horseback. The question is, can the nation afford an excess of such preservation in the name of perpetuating wilderness areas?

A spokesman for a major timber company discusses the drive to include some 40 million acres of roadless areas managed by the Forest Service in the national forest wilderness system. He shows the impact the designation of these acres as wilderness would have on the state of Washington, where some three million acres out of the state's 9.7 million acres of national forests are subject to wilderness classification. Already the Forest Service and the forest industry have agreed on 384,000 acres as properly subject to wilderness - use study. However, the balance of the three million acres contains some 33 billion board feet capable of sustaining an annual allowable cut of 335 million board feet. This volume, according to the timber company spokesman, sustains some 3,720 basic jobs in Washington's timber industry which are backed up by some 7,400 service and trade jobs -- a total of 11,200 jobs. The 25 per cent of receipts, which are to be used for roads and schools, contributes some $2.25 million annually to 23 counties of the state.

It is difficult to see how any state or the nation can scatter an asset of this size to the four winds. As the timber company spokesman concludes, "The basic question in this dispute is how much of our forests are required to satisfy the material and spiritual needs of our people nown and in the future. We need some wilderness areas, but there is a point where further wilderness additions will be detrimental to the general welfare ..."

A REAL MIRACLE

A man in Africa had a frightening experience. He lost his guide, wandered into the jungle and suddenly was surrounded by hostile natives.

He remembered a trick he'd seen in an old movie so he dug in his pocket for his cigarette lighter, pulled it out, flicked it once and a big flame popped up.

All of the natives, including the chief, became wide- eyed as they saw the flame dancing on the end of the little box. The chief advanced toward the lost hunter, looking steadily at the box. He broke the silence with his hushed voice, "It's a miracle. I've never seen a lighter that worked the first time.

POOR MECHANIC

A man was driving through the country when his motor stopped. He got out to see if the could locate the trouble.

A voice behind him said, "The trouble is in the carburetor." He turned around, but saw only an old horse. "I said you better check the carburetor," repeated the horse.

Rushing to the nearest farm house, the man related his experience to a farmer.

"Was it an old bay horse with a flop ear?" asked the farmer.

"Yes, yes, that's the one," babbled the man.

"Well, don't pay no attention to him," said the farmer. "He don't know nothing about autombiles anyway."

Little Rollo was causing havoc on the plane, pushing buttons and running up and down the aisle at top speed. On one such journey he crashed into a stewardess carrying a tray of food.

Looking at the mess on the floor, she took Rollo gently by the arm and cooed, "Why don't you go outside and play?"

"ANTI-POVERTY" PROGRAM TO CONTINUE

The House of Representatives has voted to continue the controversial "anti- poverty" program, to the tune of $3.76 billion. Although the House voted to disband the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), its major programs were transferred to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Many radical programs will continue under the new arrangement. Farleft activist organizations will receive money for lobbying, demonstrations, boycotts and picketing. "Neighborhood centers" will promote programs like the radical legal services; consumer protection, which is often a cover for harassment of businesses; and child development programs, which give the government control over children.

OEO was originally set up with great fanfare to "help the poor." Many well- meaning people supported it for that reason, but in its 10 years of existence, the program did far more harm than good. Many who support continuance of these programs do so simply out of self- interest, to preserve the bureaucarcy which OEO set up and to keep in existence the many radical organizations supported by axpayers' money.

This legislation is particularly ill- advised at a time when the federal budget deficit is so high that inflation is out of control. Our economy cannot be restored to health so long as these wasteful and useless programs continue. If Congress really wants to help the poor, it should eliminate federal "war on poverty" programs and allow local communities to meet the needs of their people. HLH

WASHINGTON — Slowly the farmworkers' battle in California's salad fields and valleys is seeping deep into American labor -- raising tempests, tempers and complex issues. Now it has cut sharply into the broadcasting arena. The traditionally gentle American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA, AFL-CIO) has declared open combat against the huge Teamsters union by calling on its members to back Cesar Chavez's boycott of Gallo wine table grapes and Western iceberg head lettuce picked by Frank Fitzsimmons's Brotherhood.

Delegates to AFTRA's convention the other day cheered Chavez's quiet and eloquent talk of tribulations into which he and his followers have run. And AFTRA leaders have "Pledged to enlist the talent and resources of the actors and announcers among its 29,000 members to tell the story of the United Farm Workers boycott and its struggle for survival to the American people."

During AFTRA's Denver convention, national executive secretary Sanford (Bud) Wolff said that the union would "make available to Cesar Chavez the services of our professional performers for the purpose of making public announcements and even paid commercials free of charge to assist the UFW."

Wolff, an erstwhile Chicago lawyer, was backed by union president Ken Harvey, a popular CBS actor.

There are serious issues here goring their way right to the gut of the controversy over freedom of the media. And I write as an AFTRA member. I've worked with Bud Wolff. I voted for president Harvey. I note they have chosen their words well. They will "enlist" talent and resources of actors and announcers.

But it isn't clear whether or not they have put all of AFTRA on record in this bitter jurisdictional dispute between the Teamsters and the United Farm Workers. It isn't clear whether or not news commentators are eliminated from this crusade for Chavez. And what sharp line limns the announcers? Do they never broadcast new items? Or interpret them? Presumably not. But doesn't Bud Wolff's and Ken Harvey's empathy enlist all of AFTRA -- including hundreds of reporters and interpretive commentators and anchor men?

Didn't the emotional delegates, cheering Chavez, actually put the entire union behind him? And what of Wolff's enthusiastic statement that AFTRA delegates would:

"... go back to Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, Washington and other cities and begin to work in preparing recorded announcements telling the public about conditions that Chavez is trying to overcome: a maternity death rate 250 per cent higher among farmworkers than other Americans; an infant mortality rate 125 per cent higher; a life span 20 years shorter than the national average, indiscriminate use of pesticides that poison those who harvest crops; no portable toilets in the fields."

Certainly fighting those conditions puts this broadcast union on the side of decency. But the statement, by inference, projects the Teamsters against such a battle and apparently for the indecencies. Is that true?

One thing is certain -- these statements by a union representing 29,000 performers, announcers and newsmen declares open war on the Teamsters. As an AFTRA member, I'll pick my own wars. I haven't been shy. I've taken on the Teamsters before and may well again issue by issue.

What does this do when the public views Fitzsimmons being grilled on NBC's "Meet the Press" or the "Today" show by AFTRA newsmen? What does it do to our professional image? Or mine, when I question a Teamster, or anyone, during an hour- long radio talk show or swift TV interview? Or when I or my colleagues quote a Teamster or leaders in other unions which Wolff and Harvey have implicated in this boycott?

Their call for rejection of Gallo wine is a product boycott. It affects the glass bottle blowers union, the retail clerks and the distillery workers unions. It throws a union of professional performers and newsmen right smack into the intricacies and bitterness of jurisdictional warfare.

A broadcast union, because of the sheer magic of its members' imagery, puts all its people on record when it takes a position. This means we go into the spotlight with a propaganda label across the tube. Actors now are called on to identify with one product against another. And a union's rank- and- file, it seems to me, elects its officers to bargain for wages, fringes and working conditions -- not to put them on record in a jurisdictional feud.

It's no reflection on the Amalgamated Clothing Workers union when I say their support of the football players strike differs from a performer and broadcasters' union propaganda position. Nor is the Ladies Garment Union analogous to us in the newsfield union when the needleworkers take a position. On April 12 Fitzsimmons wrote to all union presidents saying that those who boycott his union will be considered enemies of the Teamsters. Thus the news and performers broadcasting union is thrown into an inner labor vortex.

The issue here is not Chavez. The issue is voluntarism. Any group of actors could, and have, whipped up committees. But a union which includes thousands of newsmen should not take an official position on a constantly breaking news story, I believe.

A fight to enrich the lives of farmworkers, si! A stand, which could compromise the image of objectivity of a newsman's union with the public, no!

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Oil Men Tried to Block War Aid to Israel

WASHINGTON — Locked in the secret White House files is evidence that four American oil companies supported Arab interests against their own country during the Arab-Israeli war last October.

At the height of the fighting, the chairmen of Exxon, Mobil, Texaco and Standard of California signed a joint memo to President Nixon and rushed it by special messenger to the White House.

The memo, which was delivered on October 12, clearly was timed to influence the President against sending military aid to Israel. The oilmen correctly warned that Saudi Arabia and Kuwiat would retaliate by cutting back oil production.

Added the memo prophetically: "There is a high probability that a single action taken by one producer government against the United States would have a snowballing effect that would produce a major petroleum supply crisis."

The President didn't read the memo, however, until after he had already ordered a massive, emergency armslift to Israel on October 14.

The Arab oil producers struck back, one after another, with an embargo against the United States. The greatest of the oil sheiks Saudi Arabia's King Faisal, halted oil shipments to the United States on October 20.

The Saudi embargo was administered and enforced by the four American companies which together form the Arabian American Oil Company (Aramco). When King Faisal banned oil deliveries to U.S. military forces, the four companies scrupulously carried out the king's order.

The supreme irony is that the four Aramco partners had amassed hundreds of millions of dollars in tax credits and oil subsidies from the American taxpayers for the specific purpose of preserving Saudi oil for U.S. defense.

Yet Exxon, Mobil, Texaco and Standard of California, putting profits ahead of patriotism, didn't hesitate to withhold Suadi oil from the U.S. armed forces at the snap of King Faisal's finger.

The four oil giants were put on notice by the king at a secret meeting in Geneva on May 23, 1973. He had come to Switzerland for a rest after visiting Cairo when President Anwar Sadat had put pressure on him to use oil as a weapon against the West.

The king told representatives of the four American companies, according to an intelligence report, that he didn't intend to let Saudi Arabia's traditional friendship with the United States isolate his country from the Arab world.

Unless the Aramco partners brought pressure on the U.S. government to change its Middle East policy, he warned, they could lose their Saudi oil concessions. He called upon them to impress this message upon both the U.S. public and U.S. leaders.

"Time is running out," the king declared, emphasizing repeatedly that "you could lose everything."

With this warning still echoing in their ears, the oilmen became panicky when the United States showed favoritism for Israel during the October war. The four chairmen -- J. K. Jamieson, Exxon; Rawleigh Warner Jr., Mobil; M. F. Granville, Texaco; and Otto N. Miller,Standard of California -- drafted a blunt "Memorandum to the President" on October 12.

They turned it over to Aramco's politically potent counsel, John J. McCloy, who sent it by messgnger to the White House staff chief, Gen. Alexander Haig.

In a covering letter, McCloy explained: "The chief Aramco shareholders with large concessionary interests in Saudi Arabia wish to have this brief memorandum summarizing the critical situation in regard to the flow of oil supplies from the Middle Wast placed in the President's hands as soon as possible."

The memo warned that "the Arab negotiators in Vienna have stated that their governments were angered by the speech of Ambassador (John) Scati before the United Nations which they interpreted as a clear expression of support of the Israeli position ...

"They also report that a request from the United States to King Faisal that he urge Arab combatants to retire to (the pre- attack) ceasefire line produced great irritation. We have been told that the Saudis will impose some cut- back in crude oil production as a result of the United States position taken thus far.

"A further and much more substantial move will be taken by Saudi Arabia and Kuwait in the event of further evidence of increased U.S. support of the Israeli position.

"We are convinced of the seriousness of the intentions of the Saudis and Kuwaitis and that any actions of the U.S. government at this time in terms of increased military aid to Israel will have a critical and adverse effect on our relations with the moderate Arab producing countries."

Raising the familiar cry of national security, the chairmen pleaded that "much more than our commercial interests in the area is now at hazard." The real stakes, they pleaded, were "both our economy and our security."

Not long afterward, they joined in undermining U.S. security in the Middle East by cutting off Saudi oil to American planes and ships.

Footnote: We contacted the offices of the four oil chairmen. Their spokesmen contended that the memo was not intended to meddle in U.S. foreign policy but merely to alert President Nixon to the facts.

Godwin upset

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Quarter-finalists in the Missouri Golf Association's amateur championship place an accent on youth.

The oldest is Spencer Sappington of the St. Louis suburb of Manchester. He is 31.

Payne Stewart of Springfield and Mike Peck of Kansas City are 17. The rest are between 20 and 27.

The pairings for today's quarter-final round:

Bill Daniels, Kirksville, and Peck.

Stewart and James E. Jackson, St. Louis.

Mike Prendergast, Ballwin, and Dennis Goettel Carthage.

Sappington and Dale Kutz, Kansas City.

Daniels, 25, a Northeast Missouri State University graduate and a bank employ at Kirksville, eliminated defending champion Luther Godwin of Poplar Bluff, 1-up, Thursday in the second round. The 37-yearold Godwin was forced to go 25 holes in the morning opening round to defeat James G. Jackson of St. Louis, 1-up.

The match involving Stewart and Jackson today pits the sons of former state champions against each other. Stewart's father, Biill Stewart, defeated in the first round by Bruce Hollowell of Springfield, 1-up, was state champion twice. Jackson's father, James G., was the titlist in 1951, 1954 and 1959.

Prendergast finished high-flying Don Bliss of Manchester in the first round, 1-up. Bliss, qualifying medalist, had breezed through the two-day qualifying rounds seven strokes ahead of the nearest competition.

Second round results:

Bill Daniels, Kirksville, defeated Luther Godwin, Poplar Bluff, 1-up.

Mike Peck, Kansas City, defeated John Johnson, St. Louis, 2 and 1.

Payne Stewart, Springfield, defeated Allen Dennis, Springfield, 3 and 2.

James E. Jackson, St. Louis, defeated Jack McClain, Kirsvkille, 7 and 6.

Mike Prendergast, Ballwin, defeated Tom Dawson, Sikeston, 4 and 2.

Dennis Goettel, Carthage, defeated Bill Ludwig, Blue Springs, 4 and 2.

Warehouses store rationing coupons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emergency gasoline rationing coupons printed during the recent energy crisis are stored in secret warehouses in case of future shortages, the Federal Energy Administration said today.

The 4.8 billion coupons have been a source of embarrassment for the FEA since Rep. Bill Gunter, D-Fla., disclosed in May that they could be used to trigger dollar change making machines.

The coupons contain an image of George Washington. The identical image appears on dollar bills.

An FEA spokesman said the coupons, which cost $12.5 million to print, have been stored in several government-owned warehouses across the nation. He declined to specify the locations, but said all were in "secure locations guarded by such government agencies as the Defense Supply Agency, the Federal Reserve and the Bureau of the Mint."

The spokesman claimed little or no money was involved in the storage since all of the facilities are government-owned.

He said the coupons were transported to their storage facilities "in armored vehicles and treated with the same care as currency."

The spokesman said FEA felt the chances of anyone breaking into the government-guarded facilities and stealing the coupons were minimal.

Gunter had claimed the FEA would have to destroy the coupons to keep them from being used change machines.

Rehabilitation division scores record year

JEFFERSON CITY — Another record year has been scored by the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, William H. Keith, assistant commissioner, reported today.

Preliminary figures indicate that 8,306 physically and/or mentally handicapped Missourians were rehabilitated during the fiscal year ending June 30. That figure represents an increase of 634 or 8.2 per cent over the 7,672 who were rehabilitated in fiscal year 1973, the previous record year.

Special emphasis continues to be exerted toward the rehabilitation of eligible individuals who are recipients of public assistance, and there has been substantial progress in that area also, Keith said. During the past year, he noted, 1,963 public assistance recipients were rehabilitated, an increase of 310 over the previous year. The public assistance needs of these individuals were either eliminated altogether or were reduced through their experiences with vocational rehabilitation.

Significant growth was noted also in the Cooperative School- Work Program operated by the vocational rehabilitation and special education divisions of the department in cooperation with local school districts. More school districts each year are participating in this program, which serves educable mentally retarded youngsters of high school age. The cases of 685 of these students were closed as rehabilitated during the past year, and the number of students receiving services through this program increased to 2,754, compared with 2,449 a year earlier.

Expert says nuclear plants clean, safe

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — One of the state's nuclear experts has contended that despite claims by nuclear power plant critics, such facilities are actually safer than conventional utility operations.

Robert Carter, professor of nuclear and electrical engineering at the Universiy of Missouri, says nuclear plants, such as the one proposed by Union Electric for construction near Fulton, "are cleaner and safer than conventional power plants."

While acknowledging that there is ono way to assure absolute safety from potential malfunctions, Carter points out, "up to this point, nuclear plants have the best safety record of any area of industry."

With maximum safeguards built into construction standards for such plants, Carter notes that there have been no major accidents at any nuclear plant in the United States, where there are 42 operating, 56 in the construction phase and another 101 on the drawing board.

There is also no perceptible increase in radiation exposure for persons to close proximity to a nuclear power planted, Carter says.

While some opponents of nuclear power expansion claim there is a potential for takeover of nuclear plants by subversive for use in so-called "nuclear blackmail," Carter discounts that possibility.

"I can't say that sabotage would never happen," the professor says, pointing to increased attention to security at nuclear plants, "but it is extremely unlikely to ever occur."

If approved by both federal and state officials, the Union Electric plant would include two generators with the first scheduled for initial operation in 1981.

The Missouri Public Service Commission has set Sept. 5 for a public hearing on the utility's proposal.

Chaffee to vote on tax

CHAFFEE - Residents of Chaffee will be asked to approve a one-cent city sales tax at a special election yet to be set in an effort to balance its budget.

The City Council Monday night unanimously approved a motion to submit the sales tax issue to the voters.

The motion came after the council received a report which showed that when department budgets are submitted, the city will have a $33,000 deficit for the fiscal year.

The council estimates that the one-cent sales tax would produce approximately $50,540 per year.

Show courtesy to out-of-state drivers

Emphasis: Show Extra Courtesy And A Good Example To Visiting Motorists

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri is a popular vacation land for people from other states. With this in mind, Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, today urged Missouri motorists to show extra courtesy to out-of- state drivers.

"There are many visiting motorists to Missouri during this time of the year," Smith stated. "They are traveling to our parks, lakes and other places of recreation. These out-of- state drivers are often not sure of their next turn. Sometimes they are admiring our beautiful scenery instead of watching the other vehicles on the road. Occasionally these visitors make sudden stops or wrong turns. Missouri motorists, therefore, should be alert for unexpected actions by out- of- state drivers and show courtesy at every opportunity."

The patrol superintendent also pointed out that Missouri drivers have a great opportunity during this tourist season to set a good example in regard to obeying the traffic laws. One particular way of showing a good example to out- of- state motorists is to obey the 55 mile per hour speed limit.

"Tourism is a big industry in Missouri and it deserves your support," Smith concluded. "Highway safety also merits the support of everyone. I urge you to show extra courtesy to out- of- state drivers and obey all traffic laws so that their safety, as well as yours, will be better assured."

Fireworks ignite weeds

Firemen were called to the 400 block of North Ingram Road Thursday afternoon when children playing with fireworks apparently set fire to weeds along the road.

The fire started at 2 p.m. and burned off a large area of weeds between the road and the ditch on the east side. Firemen extinguished the fire and then let another area burn off.

Firemen found several bottle rockets in the grass near the fire.

At 3:32 p.m. firemen were called to 217 Felker St., when burning trash set fire to weeds. Only a small area burned before the fire was extinguished.

The Goodwill Club spans 38 years

The Goodwill Club, originally formed on June 29, 1936, to create an awareness in the black neighborhood of the many problems which faced blacks and how these problems could be eliminated by working together, has expanded in its 38- year history to many useful duties for the entire city of Sikeston.

A special program has been planned at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Bethel AME Church, located at the corner of Westgate and North streets, to honor Mrs. Eula Burns, founder, and the club's success.

Organized by Mrs. Burns, who was elected president for the first term, the club started out to be an aid mostly to the sick and distressed in the black neighborhood, Sunset.

Other first officers are recorded as follows: Martha Daniel, secretary; Bertha Hilber, treasurer; Elnora Pride, manager; and Delida Jordan, Etta B. Winter, Mattie Ederson and Laverna Trice are supporting members.

There was no available meeting place for the club, so Girard (Heavy) Hunt permitted the women to use his barber shop to hold their first meeting. From these beginnings, The Goodwill Club has progressed steadily.

Members agreed to pay $1 a week while another member was sick and also to visit the disabled members. After an illness of six weeks the club would pay $2 per month as long as the member was ill.

In the 38 years of existence the purpose had to be expanded. It has become a community wide public service agency. It serves not only the black community but the white as well.

It has consistently made contributions to community betterment projects such as United Fund, Heritage House, Red Cross, March of Dimes, local churches and hospitals, and others.

In September, 1959, Mrs. Burns and the Goodwill Club called attention to the practice of segregation of patients in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Visiting the sick, shut-in and hospitalized they observed that Negro men and women patients were being housed in the same room. A letter of complaint was written to Harold Jones, administrator of the hospital. He responded promptly admitting that this was an unfortunate situation but as soon as the purposed building program was completed, different arrangements would be made throughout the hospital to give better service to every patient, regardless of color.

In response to this letter in November, 1959, The Goodwill Club sent a check of $100 to Delta Community Hospital and pledged to continue to support the hospital both morally and financially.

Recently there has been a number of government-funded programs for helping children who are behind in their school work during the summer.

Mrs. Eula Burns

The Goodwill Club was the first to offer free summer school in the Sunset Community. In 1959-1960 the club hired teachers to conduct a six weeks summer program. This program was approved by Lynn Twitty, then superintendent of schools.

The constructing of sidewalks in the Sunset Community was another pioneering project of The Goodwill Club. At their first meeting, Mayor Kendall Sikes (retired) gave one sidewalk and Raymert Miller, City Manager (also retired) gave two. The program has now expanded to most of the community.

With the coming of the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic for mental retardation, The Goodwill Club responded again by making jackets for the children.

It was The Goodwill Club that petitioned the mayor and city officials to enforce the curfew law in the Sunset Community for the protection of children.

In another effort to participate in "Community Betterment" The Goodwill Club purchased a share in the Sikeston Industrial Development Company.

Annually, The Goodwill Club assists the Sikeston Jaycees in the distribution of toys in the Sikeston area at Christmas time. Its own Christmas project consists of giving food baskets to local senior citizens.

Questionaire lets housewives decide if they are alcoholics

Dear Ann Landers: Millions of housewives in this country would be shocked if someone called them alcoholics. But they are. Members of the Kansas City area National Council On Alcoholism have prepared a questionnaire (with help from the Michigan chapter) and we want to give it as much exposure as possible. We hope you'll print it.

Here are 20 questions. Any woman who answers "Yes" to more than half is probably alcoholic.

1. Do you try to get someone to buy liquor for you because you are ashamed to buy it yourself?

2. Do you buy liquor at different places so no one will know how much you purchase?

3. Do you hide the empties and dispose of them secretly?

4. Do you plan in advance to "reward" yourself with a little drinking bout after you've worked very hard in the house?

5. Are you often permissive with your children because you feel guilty about the way you behaved when you were drinking?

6. Do you have "blackouts," periods about which you remember nothing?

7. Do you ever phone the hostess of a party the next day and ask if you hurt anyone's feelings or made a fool of yourself?

8. Do you find cigaret holes in your clothes or the furniture and can't remember when it happened?

9. Do you take an extra drink or two before leaving for a party when you know liquor will be served thre?

10. Do you often wonder if anyone knows how much you drink?

11. Do you feel wittier or more charming when you are drinking?

12. Do you feel panicky when faced with non-drinking days, such as a visit to out-of-town relatives?

13. Do you invent social occasions for drinking, such as inviting friends for lunch, cocktails or dinner?

14. When others are present, do you avoid reading articles or seeing movies or TV shows about women alcoholics but read and watch when no one is around?

15. Do you ever carry liquor in your purse?

16. Do you become defensive when someone mentions your drinking?

17. Do you become irritated when unexpected guests reduce your liquor supply?

18. Do you drink when under pressure or after an argument?

19. Do you try to cover up when you can't remember promises and feel ashamed when you misplace or lose things?

20. Do you drive even though you've been drinking but feel certain you are in complete control of yourself?

Be honest. If your score says you're alcoholic, call the National Council On Alcoholism or Alcoholics Anonymous. They are listed in the phone book. -- Doris S. and Jane J. (Alcoholic Counselors)

Dear D. and J.: Thank you. And now a word from me to those of you who flunked. These self-help groups have proven more successful than psychiatry, religion or medical help. Millions have found sobriety through their camaraderie and mutual support. You can, too. Get going.

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful; Send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Line survey to determine where to file charges

DONIPHAN -- Authorities are having the line surveyed between Ripley and Oregon counties in the south-east Missouri Oqarks to determine which county should press charges against the slayer of Riley Hastings.

Both counties have murder warrants out, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation is helping them look for a young couple listed as Mark Curtis Combs and Valerie Sue Combs, who apparently lived in St. Louis and sometimes used the name "Schmidt."

The search is concentrating on a report that they were seen driving Hastings' camper in the vicinity of International Peace Park near the Canadian border in Montana.

Hastings, a 59-year-old fishing and hunting enthusiasts from Steele disappeared June 27 from a hunting camp he frequented northwest of Doniphan.

His body was found June 27 in a remote woods on Wolf Mountain on the Oregon-Ripley border, about nine miles from the camp.

He had been killed with his own shotgun. Robbery apparently was the motive.

A state park ranger reported he saw a young couple camped near Hastings before he disappeared, and other witnesses have told investigators they saw a young couple driving Hastings' camper.

Area guardsman attends officer candidate school

CAMP CLARK - Sgt. Clyde Alan Vaughn of Dexter Route Three, a Missouri National Guardsman, is currently completing his training at Camp Clark to become an officer in the Missouri Guard.

Vaughn is one of 29 guardsmen completing more than a year of training at the Missouri Guard's Officer Candiate School. The candidates will be commissioned as second lieutenants at a ceremony Aug. 10 in the Capitol rotunda in Jefferson City.

The three-phase officer's school consists of an initial 15-day annual field training session, a series of 12 monthly weekend meetings in Jefferson City, and a final 15-day training and field testing period at Camp Clark, near Nevada in western Missouri.

Upon graduation, the new officers will be assigned leadership responsibilities at t National Guard units throughout the state.

Curtis visits Bootheel

NEW MADRID -- Republican Thomas B. Curtis took his campaign caravan into the conservative Democratic Bootheel area Thursday to urge the ousting of Democratic Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton.

Curtis, who probably will be Eagleton's opponent in the November general election, told listeners at numerous stops in Southeast Missouri that Eagleton "is a liberal, no matter how he tries to disguise his voting records."

Stopping frequently to shake hands with local people, he repeatedly declared:

"Hi, I'm Tom Curtis, running for the U. S. Senate. If you're a conservative, I'd appreciate your vote."

Traditionally, this is strong Democratic country but two years ago it gave President Nixon a three to one margin over Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, chiefly because of McGovern's liberal views.

In visits to courthouses, newspapers and senior citizen groups at Dexter, Bloomfield, Marble Hill, Lutesville and New Madrid, Curtis hammered away at a liberal portrait of Eagleton.

The Republican primary candidate reminded his audiences that Eagleton was briefly the running mate of McGovern, and he declared that Eagleton still holds many of McGovern's liberal viewpoints.

Curtis said that because election time is approaching, the Democratic incumbent "suddenly wants to become a moderate."

"But don't let him fool you, he still is a liberal and should defend his liberal views," Curtis vowed.

Curtis consistently reminded his listeners that he was called the "Abominable No Man" by Eagleton in the 1968 campaign and that it is time to send such a man to Congress to stop wasteful spending.

He termed Eagleton "a Santa Claus" who votes for many give-away programs.

Curtis will have completed visiting 85 Missouri counties when he finishes this tour Friday. His tour Friday will include stops in Caruthersville and at Ste. Genevieve where he will attend a picnic.

Curtis served 18 years in the U.S. House of Representatives from St. Louis County before he left to run against Eagleton for the SEnate in 1968. He barely lost that bid by less than 35,040 votes out of 1.5 million votes cast.

Youth corps to hold open house

PUXICO — Missouri Youth Conservation Corps workers at Mingo National Wildlife Refuge will hold an open house July 28.

The public is invited.

YCC workers are high school students ages 15 to 18 working at the refuge for the summer. The Mingo YCC is sponsored by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Department of the Interior.

Scripture: Philippians 1:11;4:10-13

PARTNERSHIP IN THE GOSPEL

Paul advised his followers that they were always in his heart. He prayed that they would use their "true knowledge and perfect judgment" to select the best life.

Thus Paul emphasized the partnership role between God and His followers. He also stressed the need for all of us to care enough to be involved.

Although we are born as an individual we are constantly involved in relationship with others. As individuals we find it easier to practice Christianity that is within large groups.

Paul wanted to share his feelings for God with all who would listen to him. He was eager to write the Philippians and thank them for all of their work for him.

Paul was a leader. Unfortunately, today the world is extremely short of such leaders. We do have some who try to lead yet they fail because they too often ignore the needs of their followers.

And, unfortunately, there are those who say they are followers yet they fail to accept any responsibilities to promote the cause.

The Philippian church had some real leaders. Normally Paul supported himself at his trade. The believers in Philippi wanted to "enter into partnership" with him by supplying some of his needs.

Philippian is a thank-you letter from the imprisoned Paul to a group he really loved. He admired the unity displayed by this congregation witnessing, prayer, and giving.

In his years working for God Paul had learned to be humble and to be able to live contently with whatever he possessed. He had learned too that any project succeeds best when the individuals function as a united group.

Any church to be successful must be sure that all members follow Paul's teachings here. Today we find churches debating internal problems. Some members debate the role of the church should take in relationship to current problems.

When Paul saw how concerned his church was to spread Christianity he rejoiced. Today's ministers also rejoice when their members unite on a worthwhile project to serve the people.

Spiritual growth and development were Paul's goals for all. In the first chapter of Philippians Paul provides a prayer for his people, stressing the need for abounding love, discernment and purity.

Why should today's Christians read these ancient letters by Paul? They need his advice. They need his reassurance of what God has promised us. They need his leadership.

Paul likewise offered aid for everyone who has suffered in any way. The reader must remember that Paul was in prison, yet he was more concerned about his followers than he was about his own future.

He realized that all persons need others to help them through the problems of the times.

Norman Cousins said in 1950 that, "The iron walls of the self may be torn down in a magnificent triumph of common purpose and common conscience as men discover they are but single cells in a larger and common body."

Christians too are "but single cells in a larger and common body." Paul experienced many obstacles in his struggles to bring together the new believers into a church.

Yet on all occasions Paul refused to be defeated by obstacles and delays. Always he turned to God for guidance, writing, "I can do all things in Him who strengthens me."

Paul and his people were partners in prayer, in suffering, in service, and in spiritual growth. Prayer is possible for everyone. It provides a way for one to amend his ways of living.

Frequently one suffers in his desire to be closer to God. Such pains have been called "the birth-throes of transition to better things."

One can possibly be a Christian alone, but he will become a better Christian in partnership with others sharing similar goals.

Wilkerson film showing Saturday

A special presentation of "The Road to Armagedoon," a new David Wilkerson film will be shown Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Calvary Assembly of God Church at Scott and Trotter streets.

The films, just released by Wilkerson's Youth Crusades of Dallas, Tex. depicts events foreshadowing the last world war at Armegeddon. It features Wilkerson, author of "The Cross and the "Switchblade," narrating the dramatization of five calamities coming to the world.

Wilkerson said the film is based on insights he received from God in April. "I saw come to the United States and the world a terrible recession, a major earthquake, worldwide famine, a flood of filth on TV and on the newsstands, hatred against parents by teenagers and a persecution madness directed against all Jesus people," he said.

Wilkerson, executive producer, said "The purpose of the film is to awaken the young and old alike to the reality and nearness of the coming of Christ. This dynamic film has such an impact that every viewer will have to decide what he must do about Christ's imminent return."

Admission is free and the Rev. T. A. McDonough, pastor of the Calvary Assembly of God Church, invites the public to attend.

ACCURACY!

Whether you fly cast, spin or bait cast ... learn to be accurate. Overshooting or undershooting good fishing spots not only mean empty stringers, it tears down your estimation of your own fishing ability. Practice at home. Pick out any target (not necessarily the neighbor's cat) and cast at it until you can hit it without thinking of the fundamentals. But before you set your sights on winning a casting tourney remember this — the most important requisite to good casting is the rod, reel and line. They must be of good quality and kept in top condition. Also, make sure the reel is filled with the proper amount of line. And forget that 100 foot cast! Start with casts of about 30 feet and work up to 60 feet. This is the casting range that accounts for practically all fish caught on artificials, anyway!

DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Will meat tenderizer digest stomach?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My father and I have been in dispute for quite a while over the use of a product to tenderize meat. My father thinks that if it tenderizes meat it can also tenderize a person's stomach. Is that true?

DEAR READER — I won't comment on the controversies surrounding all the various ingredients in tenderizers, but none of these really relate to tenderizing the stomach.

Our stomach is protected from tenderizing. The best tenderizer in the world is the acid pepsin juice formed normally by the stomach. The hydrochloric acid and the enzyme will start the initial digestion of any meat we eat, breaking it down into smaller chemical units. Its action helps to convert solid meat into a slush before it can even leave the stomach.

The acid pepsin juice in large quantities will digest areas of the small intestine just outside the stomach causing a duodenal ulcer. Or, if you have a faulty closure mechanism at the top of the stomach the acid pepsin juice will regurgitate into the lower esophagus causing "heartburn" or an ulcer. This can happen with hiatal hernia.

For more information on ulcers or hiatal hernia, send for the booklets I have prepared for readers on these subjects. Send 50 cents for each booklet, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to ask for the booklet of your choice.

The stomach is coated with a tough, thick layer of mucus that protects the cells of the stomach lining from the acid pepsin juice. It likewise protects the stomach from a lot of things we eat. So, I think that one danger concerning meat tenderizers can be forgotten.

If you are worried about the adverse effects of any tenderizer, you can always tenderize meat by marinating it. Soaking it in vinegar or wine softens the tough connective tissue and makes it tender. Grinding meat (for example, round steak to make hamburger) also breaks up the tough fibers. Neither wine nor vinegar will hurt you if used to tenderize meat before cooking it. Any alcohol present will be destroyed in the cooking process. You can marinate any meat or poultry.

Incidentally, the longer a meat is cooked at low temperature, the more tender it will become. The persistent low heat will break down the tough fibers and do the job for you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — This is in regard to victims of arthritis using nylon knit or Spandex nylon gloves. I have two friends who are using the nylon Isotoner driving gloves. One wears them at night also. The first friend says her hands are not as stiff and painful in the mornings and just recently bought the footlets in Isotoner. Are these really helpful?

DEAR READER — I have received an enourmous amount of mail from patients with stiff hands from arthritis who claim that they are. I believe them. Any of the stretch gloves that you can find seem to provide good relief for many patients. Many people have had trouble finding stretch gloves. Some have tried other things, including loosely wrapping their hands in plastic, which is claimed to help. Others have used stretchable garments, including panty hose material, and claimed to have benefited from it. Apparently any stretchy material helps provide relief. Perhaps keeping the hands warm also helps, although just warm gloves have not seemed to produce the same good effects as the stretch material or stretch gloves.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

What's the law?

The case of the optimistic nephew

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Tommy's uncle was a reckless driver, but he wasn't wreckless long. Shortly after buying a flashy new Cadillac, he got into an automobile accident and reduced it to junk. What's more, he got himself killed.

As far as Tommy was concerned, however, the dark cloud that prevailed as a result of the mishap appeared to have a silver lining. A subsequent reading of his uncle's will revealed that Tommy had been slated to have inherited the defunct car from his defunct uncle.

Consequently, he optimistically laid claim to $5,000 that an insurance company had paid to his uncle's estate for the destruction of the car.

"Things equal to the same thing," he pointed out, "are equal to each other. Since I was to inherit the car, I'm entitled to inherit the money that was paid for its destruction."

"That's not so," responded the executor of his uncle's estate. "While you were willed the car, all that's worth is $150 as junk. Consequently, that's all you're entitled to collect."

Still optimistic, Tommy sought to collect the $5,000 insurance payment in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give optimistic Tommy the insurance proceeds in lieu of the car?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Tommy was given no interest in the insurance policy or its proceeds under his uncle's will. The only interest given him was in the wrecked car. Consequently, concluded the judge, he was only entitled to receive the value of the car after the accident which, unfortunately from Tommy's point of view, was worth only $150.

100-year-old doctor ends medical career

ATHENS, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Tolbert Hill has treated his last patient and let his medical license expire. He's 100.

Hill tried to end his practice in 1955, the year his wife died. But since no other doctor practices in this central Illinois community of 1,000, he continued to see some patients until earlier this year.

"You're not going to get a young doctor who wants to practice in a crossroads like this anymore," Hill said in an interview on Wednesday.

"Your young doctor today is likely the son of another doctor, who's come from a home where he's had all the comforts of life, and it would be quite a comedown for him here," he said.

Hill's father, who was a doctor, moved to Illinois from Tennessee, and got to know Abraham Lincoln.

"But I didn't have the privileges of my son and my grandson," he said. His son practices in San Jose, Calif., and his grandson is a physician in Seattle.

Hill moved to Athens in 1898. Like other doctors of the time, he visited patients in a horsedrawn buggy until cars became available in the 1920s.

During the depression, Hill sometimes received eggs or chickens instead of his usual payment.

Although the country doctor neither smokes nor drinks, he attributes his health and long life to his family heritage.

"You're nothing without that," he says.

He said he has delivered aproximately 2,500 babies in his 76-year career.

Hill says he's enjoying his retirement. But he mused, "Old age is no fun. You lose your hearing and can't appreciate the rustle of a silk skirt anymore."

Errors are made by the help — slip-ups are made by the supervisors.

Astros tee off on Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Houston Astros' Lee May, Milt May and Tommy Helms are hitting a collective .281 for the year, but against the St. Louis Cardinals it's .437.

And, spraying salvos as usual in every direction, the three ganged up on the hapless Cardinals again Thursday night in an 8-2 Astros National League runaway.

Four Cardinal errors, including three by Ken Reitz, contributed to a Houston onslaught sending St. Louis to its sixth successive loss.

But the bats of the two Mays and Helms, who combined for eight hits, were also prominent in a 13-hit assault off four Cardinal pitchers.

"I can't explain it. Everybody else is getting me out," said the massive Lee May, who powered his 16th home run to go with a two-run double and single.

"We get in streaks when I don't think it makes much difference who we're playing," noted Milt May, who added three singles and was intentionally walked.

Lee May's lusty performance boosted his year's production to four home runs and nine runs batted in against the Cardinals on 15 hits for a .405 average in nine games.

Milt May has 11 hits in 24 times at bat for a .458 mark and Helms, the Astros' scrappy second baseman, has 12 hits for .461.

"I can't buy a hit against the Pirates and Cubs," reflected Helms, who had two singles. "You just keep swinging and hope they fall. That's all you can do."

Houston, halting a loss string of its own at three games, snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh as singles by Helms and winning pitcher Claude Osteen, 9-7, ignited a six-run burst.

A rash of St. Louis miscues followed, the first by Reitz loading the bases on Greg Gross' sacrifice and the second by Joe Torre yielding the winning run.

Cesar Cedeno singled home another run off losing pitcher Lynn McGlothen, 12-6, Lee May's double made it 6-2 and another Reitz error and Larry Milbourne's single accounted for two more.

The stylish Osteen went the distance and permitted only two of St. Louis' eight hits following Lou Brock's two-run single in the fifth.

"He's a scientific type pitcher," his 23-year-old catcher, Milt May, observed. "He relies a lot on the movement of his fast ball. I think he makes the very most of the ability he has."

Dennis and Barbara Bayer of Festus combined a visit this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Willis of Sikeston, with some bass fishing at a private lake near Wickliffe, Ky. The couple used a spinner bait to haul in this 25- pound plus stringer. Weights on the fish caught Wednesday morning ran from 1½ to 4½ pounds.

Card cuts

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — Two rookie place kickers and a quarterback became the latest victims of roster cuts Thursday at the St. Louis Cardinals National Football League training camp.

Kickers Anthony Bent of St. John College, British Honduras, and Randy Vernetti of Western Illinois were released by the Cards, along with quarterback Bob Molina of Northeast Missouri State College, who failed his physical.

Joining the Big Red were free agent punter Hal Roberts and second-year defensive lineman Bonnie Sloan. Roberts, a rookie from Houston, was recently cut by the World Football League Houston Texans while Sloan saw partial action with the Cardinals in 1973.

The Cardinals, who now have 45 players in camp, continued two-a-day workouts in preparation for their exhibition opener with the Buffalo Bills in the July 27 Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio.

Southmen unbeaten

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Despite sweltering temperatures in the high 80's, 31,088 fans sat in on the Memphis Southmen's 16-8 World Football League victory over the Portland Storm Thursday night. Also joining in on the action was a television audience of over a million.

The victory raised the Southmen's WFL record to 2-0 while it kept the Storm winless in its two games.

Former Heisman Trophy winner, 34 year old John Huarte, engineered the Southmen victory with an unexpected aerial bombardment.

"The game plan didn't call for any more passes than last week, but the Portland defense just dictated pass," Huarte said.

So, Huarte, who completed seven of 13 a week ago against Detroit, hit 15 of 24 for 197 yards and two touchdowns against Portland.

Huarte, who played only sparingly with five NFL teams in 10 seasons before giving up football last season, was an all-American at Notre Dame.

His touchdown passes were for 42 yards to rookie wide receiver Jack Ettinger on Memphis' first possession and for 14 yards to receiver Ed Marshall late in the third quarter. Marshall's touchdown, set up by defensive back David Thomas' interception and 20 yard return to the Portland 17, broke an 8-8 deadlock.

The Storm scored its touchdown with 6:07 left in the third period on quarterback Greg Barton's 29 yard strike to rookie Sam Dickerson.

Ressell hurls 2-hit shutout

VANDUSER — Morehouse rallied for five runs in the sixth inning to remain alive in the Women's fast Pitch softball tournament here and defeat Oran 14-9 Thursday night.

Helen Ressell hurled a two hit shutout as New Hamburg defeated Benton 7-0 in a battle of unbeatens.

Tobie Hahn claimed the win for Morehouse and used the big bat of Pat May, who hit a pair of doubles, for the offensive sting.

Benton stayed close until the sixth, trailing only 1-0, before giving up a pair of runs in the sixth and four in the seventh.

Ruth Booker provided the big blow with a bases loaded triple in the seventh.

Tournament play resumes Saturday night with Vanduser battling Advance at 7:15 and Bloomfield going against Bell City at 8:45.

Three games are scheduled for Sunday, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Young leads stars

Sikeston's 13- year - old all- stars regrouped Thursday night after losing their district tournament opener 15-11 to Tri- County, crushing Dexter 24-10 behind the pitching of Jeff Young.

Jay Cox backed Young's three- hit performance with a four for four performance at the plate, including a triple.

The all- stars go against East Prairie at 7 p.m. tonight in the district event at Charleston.

Steve Burgess and Garlon Beaudean connected for a pair of doubles for the stars while young hit one and Cox tripled.

Owners yelled 'foul'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the National Football League owners and striking players meet again at the bargaining table today amid statements by both sides dripping with acrimony.

Federal mediator James Scearce called for resumption of negotiations Thursday in an effort to resolve the labor dispute and end the 19-day old strike.

During the past two days, harsh words were exchanged between the owners and the players over violation of an apparent agreement made with the federal mediator that substantive positions not be discussed in the news media.

The owners yelled "foul" Wednesday after the NFL Players Association held a news conference and proposed around-the-clock negotiations.

The union alo said that, failing a negotiated settlement, the economic issues should be submitted to binding arbitration and the controversial so-called freedom issues should be presented to a blue ribbon panel that would make factual determinations and recommendations.

The owners countered Thursday by holding a news conference during which they offered a total contract proposal, which John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, called the "largest money package ever offered in sports."

Bill Curry, union president, then issued a statement in which he said the proposal "is not a serious response to our demands.

"We will be at the bargaining table tomorrow (Friday) morning and continue to look forward to a response to our proposals with respect to the players' freedom," he said.

The freedom issues, which include elimination of the option and reserve clause, have been the major stumbling bloc in the negotiations that began March 21.

Thompson said the owners' offer, which would run to Sept. 15, 1978, would be worth almost $12.5 million in preseason salaries, pensions, insurance and Pro Bowl pay.

Under the proposal, players choosing to play out their options will do so at full salary, compared to the present level of 90 per cent. It also calls for an additional sum per year equal to 10 per cent of a players' base salary to be paid during the preseason period in equal weekly installments beginning the day on which a club's veterans are scheduled to report. This is subject to a minimum increase of $3,000 for veterans and a maximum salary of $10,000.

Minimum salary of $16,000 including preseason for veterans and $14,000 for rookies is also offered.

No mention of the freedom demands were made. In a letter to Scearce, Thompson said, "to the extent the demands of the union are not incorporated in our proposed collective bargaining agreement, they are rejected."

SHOULD YOUR "SECOND CAR" BE A NEW PICKUP?

MY DODGE BOYS HAVE THE ANSWER!
(AND IT'S PACKED WITH PLUS-VALUE FEATURES.)

DODGE SWEPTLINE PICKUP.

Dodge pickups have always been known for their great features such as double-wall construction, Electronic Ignition, and more. But did you know that the United States Auto Club recently conducted tests that showed what great gas mileage our Dodge pickups can get? It did.

The trucks tested were Dodge, Ford, and Chevy ½-ton jobs. Results were conclusive—our Dodge got better gas mileage than the Chevy and slightly better gas mileage than the Ford in highway driving. Not impressed? Consider this, the Dodge we're talking about was powered with a 318 V8 while the Ford and Chevy had standard six-cylinder engines!

Our 318 V8 delivered six-cylinder economy with V8 performance. No wonder Dodge has the pick of the pickups. Of course, the mileage you'll get depends on many things including how and where you drive and the condition of your truck.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, July 19, the 200th day of 1974. There are 165 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1870, the Franco-Prussian War began.

On this date:

In 1553, the daughter of England's King Henry VIII, Mary, was proclaimed Queen after Lady Jane Grey had been deposed.

In 1821, the English King, George IV was crowned.

In 1918, during World War I, German armies began retreating across the Marne River after their last great offensive in France was repulsed by the Allies.

Chaffee to vote on tax

CHAFFEE - Residents of Chaffee will be asked to approve a one-cent city sales tax at a special election yet to be set in an effort to balance its budget.

The City Council Monday night unanimously approved a motion to submit the sales tax issue to the voters.

The motion came after the council received a report which showed that when department budgets are submitted, the city will have a $33,000 deficit for the fiscal year.

Show courtesy to out-of-state drivers

Emphasis: Show Extra Courtesy And A Good Example To Visiting Motorists

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri is a popular vacation land for people from other states. With this in mind, Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, today urged Missouri motorists to show extra courtesy to out-of-state drivers.

"There are many visiting motorists to Missouri during this time of the year," Smith stated. "They are traveling to our parks, lakes and other places of recreation. These out-of-state drivers are often not sure of their next turn. Sometimes they are admiring our beautiful scenery instead of watching the other vehicles on the road. Occasionally these visitors make sudden stops or wrong turns. Missouri motorists, therefore, should be alert for unexpected actions by out-of-state drivers and show courtesy at every opportunity."

The patrol superintendent also pointed out that Missouri drivers have a great opportunity during this tourist season to set a good example in regard to obeying the traffic laws. One particular way of showing a good example to out-of-state motorists is to obey the 55 mile per hour speed limit.

"Tourism is a big industry in Missouri and it deserves your support," Smith concluded. "Highway safety also merits the support of everyone. I urge you to show extra courtesy to out-of-state drivers and obey all traffic laws so that their safety, as well as yours, will be better assured."

Fireworks ignite weeds

Firemen were called to the 400 block of North Ingram Road Thursday afternoon when children playing with fireworks apparently set fire to weeds along the road.

The fire started at 2 p.m. and burned off a large area of weeds between the road and the ditch on the east side. Firemen extinguished the fire and then let another area burn off.

Firemen found several bottle rockets in the grass near the fire.

At 3:32 p.m. firemen were called to 217 Felker St., when burning trash set fire to weeds. Only a small area burned before the fire was extinguished.

At 4:50 p.m. firemen were called to 809 W. Malone Ave., where rubbish was burning along side a trash barrel. There was no damage firemen said.

At one time, caterpillers were thought to cure snake bites.

The beaver has had more to do with the landscaping of our land than any other animal. He literally moves mountains, dams whole water systems, and by stemming the natural processes of erosion, he builds fertile land. He alters the composition of vegetation by changing the water table — digging and ditching continually. We might call the beaver a good "Rebuilder of our natural resources."

By using pure soap and refined water, you too, can help protect our water resources. You can use soap, instead of detergents that pollute our streams and rivers. You can have gentler, more effective cleaning. Since the Garden of Eden there's been nothing better. It transforms ordinary tap water into a miracle of refreshment. Unpleasant tastes and most minerals are removed. For odors, detergent residue, and the good life call Braswell.

Line survey to determine where to file charges

DONIPHAN — Authorities are having the line surveyed between Ripley and Oregon counties in the south-east Missouri Oqarks to determine which county should press charges against the slayer of Riley Hastings.

Both counties have murder warrants out, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation is helping them look for a young couple listed as Mark Curtis Combs and Valerie Sue Combs, who apparently lived in St. Louis and sometimes used the name "Schmidt."

The search is concentrating on a report that they were seen driving Hastings' camper in the vicinity of International Peace Park near the Canadian border in Montana.

Hastings, a 59-year-old fishing and hunting enthusiasts from Steele disappeared June 27 from a hunting camp he frequented northwest of Doniphan.

His body was found June 27 in a remote woods on Wolf Mountain on the Oregon-Ripley border, about nine miles from the camp.

He had been killed with his own shotgun. Robbery apparently was the motive.

A state park ranger reported he saw a young couple camped near Hastings before he disappeared, and other witnesses have told investigators they saw a young couple driving Hastings' camper.

Area guardsman attends officer candidate school

CAMP CLARK - Sgt. Clyde Alan Vaughn of Dexter Route Three, a Missouri National Guardsman, is currently completing his training at Camp Clark to become an officer in the Missouri Guard.

Vaughn is one of 29 guardsmen completing more than a year of training at the Missouri Guard's Officer Candiate School. The candidates will be commissioned as second lieutenants at a ceremony Aug. 10 in the Capitol rotunda in Jefferson City.

The three-phase officer's school consists of an initial 15-day annual field training session, a series of 12 monthly weekend meetings in Jefferson City, and a final 15-day training and field testing period at Camp Clark, near Nevada in western Missouri.

Upon graduation, the new officers will be assigned leadership responsibilities at t National Guard units throughout the state.

Curtis visits Bootheel

NEW MADRID — Republican Thomas B. Curtis took his campaign caravan into the conservative Democratic Bootheel area Thursday to urge the ousting of Democratic Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton.

Curtis, who probably will be Eagleton's opponent in the November general election, told listeners at numerous stops in Southeast Missouri that Eagleton "is a liberal, no matter how he tries to disguise his voting records."

Stopping frequently to shake hands with local people, he repeatedly declared:

"Hi, I'm Tom Curtis, running for the U. S. Senate. If you're a conservative, I'd appreciate your vote."

Traditionally, this is strong Democratic country but two years ago it gave President Nixon a three to one margin over Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, chiefly because of McGovern's liberal views.

In visits to courthouses, newspapers and senior citizen groups at Dexter, Bloomfield, Marble Hill, Lutesville and New Madrid, Curtis hammered away at a liberal portrait of Eagleton.

The Republican primary candidate reminded his audiences that Eagleton was briefly the running mate of McGovern, and he declared that Eagleton still holds many of McGovern's liberal viewpoints.

Curtis said that because election time is approaching, the Democratic incumbent "suddenly wants to become a moderate."

"But don't let him fool you, he still is a liberal and should defend his liberal views," Curtis vowed.

Curtis consistently reminded his listeners that he was called the "Abominable No Man" by Eagleton in the 1968 campaign and that it is time to send such a man to Congress to stop wasteful spending.

He termed Eagleton "a Santa Claus" who votes for many give-away programs.

Curtis will have completed visiting 85 Missouri counties when he finishes this tour Friday. His tour Friday will include stops in Caruthersville and at Ste. Genevieve where he will attend a picnic.

Curtis served 18 years in the U.S. House of Representatives from St. Louis County before he left to run against Eagleton for the SEnate in 1968. He barely lost that bid by less than 35,040 votes out of 1.5 million votes cast.

Youth corps to hold open house

PUXICO — Missouri Youth Conservation Corps workers at Mingo National Wildlife Refuge will hold an open house July 28.

The program will begin at 2 p.m. at the refuge head-quarters building located approximately one mile north of Puxico on Highway 51. Following a tour of the headquarters area, an optional auto tour of the refuge will be conducted. On these tours, the YCC workers will be given an opportunity to display some of their work. The public is invited.

YCC workers are high school students ages 15 to 18 working at the refuge for the summer. The Mingo YCC is sponsored by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Department of the Interior.

Toys collected for needy

EAST PRAIRIE — Members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program in Mississippi County are now collecting toys for repair, which will be distributed at Christmas to the needy children.

Volunteers are asking for donations of all kinds, preferably toys which are not too damaged and need only minor repairs or a coat of paint. Material of any kind is also needed to make doll clothing.

Those wishing to donate items may bring their contributions by the RSVP office, 605 East Main St. in East Prairie or call 649-5342 and donations will be picked up.

ACCURACY!

Whether you fly cast, spin or bait cast . . . learn to be accurate. Overshooting or undershooting good fishing spots not only mean empty stringers, it tears down your estimation of your own fishing ability. Practice at home. Pick out any target (not necessarily the neighbor's cat) and cast at it until you can hit it without thinking of the fundamentals. But before you set your sights on winning a casting tourney remember this — the most important requisite to good casting is the rod, reel and line. They must be of good quality and kept in top condition. Also, make sure the reel is filled with the proper amount of line. And forget that 100 foot cast! Start with casts of about 30 feet and work up to 60 feet. This is the casting range that accounts for practically all fish caught on artificials, anyway!

DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Will meat tenderizer digest stomach?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My father and I have been in dispute for quite a while over the use of a product to tenderize meat. My father thinks that if it tenderizes meat it can also tenderize a person's stomach. Is that true?

DEAR READER — I won't comment on the controversies surrounding all the various ingredients in tenderizers, but none of these really relate to tenderizing the stomach.

Our stomach is protected from tenderizing. The best tenderizer in the world is the acid pepsin juice formed normally by the stomach. The hydrochloric acid and the enzyme will start the initial digestion of any meat we eat, breaking it down into smaller chemical units. Its action helps to convert solid meat into a slush before it can even leave the stomach.

The acid pepsin juice in large quantities will digest areas of the small intestine just outside the stomach causing a duodenal ulcer. Or, if you have a faulty closure mechanism at the top of the stomach the acid pepsin juice will regurgitate into the lower esophagus causing "heartburn" or an ulcer. This can happen with hiatal hernia.

For more information on ulcers or hiatal hernia, send for the booklets I have prepared for readers on these subjects. Send 50 cents for each booklet, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to ask for the booklet of your choice.

The stomach is coated with a tough, thick layer of mucus that protects the cells of the stomach lining from the acid pepsin juice. It likewise protects the stomach from a lot of things we eat. So, I think that one danger concerning meat tenderizers can be forgotten.

If you are worried about the adverse effects of any tenderizer, you can always tenderize meat by marinating it. Soaking it in vinegar or wine softens the tough connective tissue and makes it tender. Grinding meat (for example, round steak to make hamburger) also breaks up the tough fibers. Neither wine nor vinegar will hurt you if used to tenderize meat before cooking it. Any alcohol present will be destroyed in the cooking process. You can marinate any meat or poultry.

Incidentally, the longer a meat is cooked at low temperature, the more tender it will become. The persistent low heat will break down the tough fibers and do the job for you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — This is in regard to victims of arthritis using nylon knit or Spandex nylon gloves. I have two friends who are using the nylon Isotoner driving gloves. One wears them at night also. The first friend says her hands are not as stiff and painful in the mornings and just recently bought the footlets in Isotoner. Are these really helpful?

DEAR READER — I have received an enourmous amount of mail from patients with stiff hands from arthritis who claim that they are. I believe them. Any of the stretch gloves that you can find seem to provide good relief for many patients. Many people have had trouble finding stretch gloves. Some have tried other things, including loosely wrapping their hands in plastic, which is claimed to help. Others have used stretchable garments, including panty hose material, and claimed to have benefited from it. Apparently any stretchy material helps provide relief. Perhaps keeping the hands warm also helps, although just warm gloves have not seemed to produce the same good effects as the stretch material or stretch gloves.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Miss Missouri Pageant begins

MEXICO, Mo. (AP) — Jane Hawkins, representing Raytown, and Madeline Kupersmith of Kansas City won preliminary events Thursday night in the Miss Missouri Pageant.

Miss Hawkins, 5-foot-7 sophomore at Central Missouri State University, won the swimsuit competion.

Miss Kupersmith, a voice major at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, was selected winner in the talent competition.

What's the law?

The case of the optimistic nephew

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Tommy's uncle was a reckless driver, but he wasn't wreckless long. Shortly after buying a flashy new Cadillac, he got into an automobile accident and reduced it to junk. What's more, he got himself killed.

As far as Tommy was concerned, however, the dark cloud that prevailed as a result of the mishap appeared to have a silver lining. A subsequent reading of his uncle's will revealed that Tommy had been slated to have inherited the defunct car from his defunct uncle.

Consequently, he optimistically laid claim to $5,000 that an insurance company had paid to his uncle's estate for the destruction of the car.

"Things equal to the same thing," he pointed out, "are equal to each other. Since I was to inherit the car, I'm entitled to inherit the money that was paid for its destruction."

"That's not so," responded the executor of his uncle's estate. "While you were willed the car, all that's worth is $150 as junk. Consequently, that's all you're entitled to collect."

Still optimistic, Tommy sought to collect the $5,000 insurance payment in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give optimistic Tommy the insurance proceeds in lieu of the car?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Tommy was given no interest in the insurance policy or its proceeds under his uncle's will. The only interest given him was in the wrecked car. Consequently, concluded the judge, he was only entitled to receive the value of the car after the accident which, unfortunately from Tommy's point of view, was worth only $150.

100-year-old doctor ends medical career

ATHENS, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Tolbert Hill has treated his last patient and let his medical license expire. He's 100.

Hill tried to end his practice in 1955, the year his wife died. But since no other doctor practices in this central Illinois community of 1,000, he continued to see some patients until earlier this year.

"You're not going to get a young doctor who wants to practice in a crossroads like this anymore," Hill said in an interview on Wednesday.

"Your young doctor today is likely the son of another doctor, who's come from a home where he's had all the comforts of life, and it would be quite a comedown for him here," he said.

Hill's father, who was a doctor, moved to Illinois from Tennessee, and got to know Abraham Lincoln.

"But I didn't have the privileges of my son and my grandson," he said. His son practices in San Jose, Calif., and his grandson is a physician in Seattle.

Hill moved to Athens in 1898. Like other doctors of the time, he visited patients in a horsedrawn buggy until cars became available in the 1920s.

During the depression, Hill sometimes received eggs or chickens instead of his usual payment.

Although the country doctor neither smokes nor drinks, he attributes his health and long life to his family heritage.

"You're nothing without that," he says.

He said he has delivered aproximately 2,500 babies in his 76-year career.

Hill says he's enjoying his retirement. But he mused, "Old age is no fun. You lose your hearing and can't appreciate the rustle of a silk skirt anymore."

Errors are made by the help — slip-ups are made by the supervisors.

Oran schedules dedication of park

ORAN — U. S. Rep. Bill D. Burlison will be the guest speaker at a dedication ceremony at 2 p.m. Sunday for the new baseball addition at the George Gilleys Jr. Memorial Park. The baseball complex is being dedicated to Frank and Ida Pellegrimo.

Pellegrino, chairman of International Hat Co., donated $10,000 in 1962 for the purchase of 14 acres for improvement to the park.

Improvements to the park cost approximately $30,000, of which Pellegrino donated an additional $1,000. Another $12,800 was received from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and the remaining $15,200 was raised by donated labor and the park fund.

The new baseball complex has a lighting system, restrooms, bleachers, storage shed, dugouts and two tennis courts.

World News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special Counsel John Doar today recommended that the House Judiciary Committee approve a bill of impeachment against President Nixon, a member of the committee reported.

Any recommendation by the committee will go to the full House, which would decide whether to impeach Nixon.

If a majority of the House votes for impeachment, the charges would then go to trial in the Senate, with a two-thirds votes needed for conviction and removal from office.

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers have had their first glimpse of a "kneeling" bus designed to help the elderly and the handicapped to board and leave.

The new bus has an air suspension system enabling the driver to lower the right front corner to within three inches of the curb or 10 inches of the roadway.

A Metropolitan Transit Authority spokesman said at a demonstration of the bus on Thursday that the city was planning to buy 50 of the special buses, which will be equipped with flashing red lights to identify them to persons who have difficulty boarding regular buses.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Patrolman Daniel Gilchrist, fired from the Albany police force for refusing to shave off his mustache, says he doesn't see how it would hinder his work.

Gilchrist obtained a order in U.S. District Court on Thursday directing the police department to tell why the firing was legal.

Gilchrist, 24, married and the father of two, says no civilians objected to the mustache and his wife liked it.

He also is asking for damages of $100,000.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - Mrs. Rose Houle, 26, who called herself Mrs. Robin Hood, has been arrested here after police warned her about inserting a dime in expired meters to save motorists a $2 parking ticket.

Officers said that she would leave a message on each vehicle which read, "I put 10 cents in so you wouldn't get a $2 parking ticket. All I ask for is my 10 cents back and your thanks." Also left was an address where the thankful motorist could repay her dime.

She was charged on Thursday with distributing handbills without permission. She faces a $20 fine if convicted.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Many Florida hotels and motels report business is up and that tourist traffic in the Sunshine State is nearly back to normal, the state's tourism director says.

Director Morris Ford said on Thursday that the state tourism industry is coming back from the fuel shortage but "we still have a ways to go."

He credited the comeback to the increased availability of gasoline and to a state advertising campaign.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Tom Soothers has married his high school sweetheart, now the mother of seven, a spokesman says.

The bride is Rochelle Robley of Genoa, Nev. The ceremony was performed on Wednesday night in the Little White Church in Las Vegas.

Both are 36.

Smothers' publicist said on Thursday that the couple met in high school in Tujunga, Calif.

The first marriages of both ended in divorce. Smothers has a son.

BOSTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, a former presidential aide convicted of obstructing justice, has been suspended by the state Supreme Judicial Court from practicing law in Massachusetts.

Colson is serving a 1 to 3 year sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of obstructing justice in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The Massachusetts Bar Association asked last week that Colson be disbarred. Colson, a Boston native, earned his original license to practice law in Massachusetts. He already has been disbarred in Washington, D.C., where he was convicted.

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) — U.S. Treasury Secretary William E. Simon has been given the word on how to drink coffee in the Middle East.

"Custom dictates accepting the cup, which holds about a tablespoon of coffee, with the right hand. To declin further coffee, shake cup lightly as it is returned to server," the U.S. embassy cabled on Thursday before Simon left for Jidda on his Middle East tour.

CORDOBA, Spain (AP) — Matador Manuel "El Cordobes" Benitez has been charged with assaulting a public official after an argument with a traffic officer, authorities say.

The retired bullfighter, who was charged on Thursday, could face up to a month in jail and a heavy fine if convicted.

Benitez, who left the ring two years ago, made an estimated $10 million during his career.

LENOX, Mass. (AP) — Leonard Bernstein will limit his performance on Sunday at the Tanglewood Music Festival because of his recent hospitalization, a spokesman says.

Bernstein became ill at his Fairfield, Conn., home last Sunday and his New York office said he has been persuaded to restrict his festival appareance to conducting two works. He had also been scheduled to play a concerto.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newly published testimony by H.R. Haldeman conflicts with sworn statements by John B. Connally about donations by milk producers to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. The former White House chief of staff told a closed session of the Senate Watergate committee last Jan. 31 that Connally once complained to him that no arrangements were made to receive dairy-industry contributions. But Connally has testified that he didn't discuss milk-producer contributions with anyone and that he had nothing to do with their political donations.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he changed his mind about listening to White House Watergate tapes and after hearing them still thinks President Nixon is innocent of anything impeachable. Since he took the nation's No. 2 office last December, Ford has insisted it would be inappropriate for him as a potential presidential successor to become involved by listening to the tapes. However, he disclosed at a hometown news conference Thursday that he changed his mind because of the controversy over conflicting transcripts. Ford admitted "there are some differences in the transcripts."

The beaver has had more to do with the landscaping of our land than any other animal. He literally moves mountains, dams whole water systems, and by stemming the natural processes of erosion, he builds fertile land. He alters the composition of vegetation by changing the water table — digging and ditching continually. We might call the beaver a good "Rebuilder of our natural resources."

By using pure soap and refined water, you too, can help protect our water resources. You can use soap, instead of detergents that pollute our streams and rivers. You can have gentler, more effective cleaning. Since the Garden of Eden there's been nothing better. It transforms ordinary tap water into a miracle of refreshment. Unpleasant tastes and most minerals are removed. For odors, detergent residue, and the good life call Braswell.

NBC-TV PROGRAM HIGHLIGHT JULY 20
NBC SATURDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES: "$" (Dollars) -- A security systems expert plans to rob a bank in which he has just installed a burglar- proof alarm system. Warren Beatty and Goldie Hawn star (Color; repeat)

After installing a sophisticated alarm and surveillance system in a large bank in Hamburg, Germany, security expert Joe Collins (Beatty), capitalizing on his inside information, decides to rob the bank.

His targets are three safety deposit boxes, all belonging to criminals: a lawyer (Robert Webber) holding a large sum of cash for the mob; a black- market dealer, Sarge (Scott Brady); and Candy Man (Arthur Brauss), an international drug dealer.

Enlisting the aid of his girlfriend Dawn Divine (Miss Hawn), who also has a safety deposit box in the bank, Collins carries out the robbery with surprising results.

TALES OF SAMSON AND THE FLYING SAINT

TALES OF SAMSON AND "FLYING" SAINT ON REBROADCAST OF "MARSHALL EFRON'S ILLUSTRATED, SIMPLIFIED AND PAINLESS SUNDAY SCHOOL"

The stories of Samson, the strong man, and St. Joseph of Cupertino, as well as a visit to Amish country in Pennsylvania, highlight the rebroadcast of "Marshall Efron's Illustrated, Simplified and Painless Sunday School" Sunday, July 21 (9:30 - 10:00 a.m. CDT) on the CBS Television Network.

Efron relates how Samson was duped by the Philistines into getting his hair cut, thus losing his strength. The familiar story has a triumphant ending though, as Efron, playing the blinded Samson, gets revenge on his captors.

Efron also tells the story of St. Joseph of Cupertino, a 17th- century Italian saint who had a talent for levitation.

In a change of pace, Efron visits Amish country in Pennsylvania, showing how simple people with rugged beliefs live their lives according to their interpretation of God's will.

BASEBALL WORLD OF JOE GARAGIOLA

COLORFUL NICKNAMES AND EXAMPLES OF HOW NOT TO MAKE PLAYS ARE SUBJECTS OF 'BASEBALL WORLD' PRECEDING ALL-STAR GAME

Can you imagine a "Soup to Nuts" baseball team -- or picture "the right way not to make the play?" A special edition of the Peabody Award- winning "Baseball World of Joe Garagiola" does just that Tuesday evening, July 23 (7 p.m. DST), preceding NBC Television Network coverage of Major League Baseball's 1974 All-Star Game (7:15 p.m.).

Produced and directed by Don Ellis, written by Frank Slocum, and hosted by Joe Garagiola, this particular "Baseball World" takes a humorous look at some of the game's most colorful nicknames, as well as -- through Joe's eyes – the kinds of plays sure to keep players of All-Star teams.

No other sport has had the unique nicknames for players that baseball has throughout its history. Nicknames, often coined by bullpen crew members just passing the time, are depicted in one segment by animated cartoons prepared for NBC by Perpetual Motion Pictures, Inc.

The "Soup to Nuts Team," for instance, features the likes of "Noodles" Hahn, "Cracker" Schalk, "Oyster" Burns, "Turkey Donlin, "Catfish" Metkovich, "Pickles" Dilhoefer, "Strawberry" Bernhard and "Pretzels" Pezzullo. And for condiments, how about "Salty" Parker and "Pepper" Martin?

As to the art of fielding, Joe says: "We all know the right way to make the play, but during the course of the season we see many examples of the right way not to make the play ... such as a first baseman waiving his catcher off a foul pop both are chasing, saying he's got it -- then letting it drop."

Oran schedules dedication of park

ORAN — U. S. Rep. Bill D. Burlison will be the guest speaker at a dedication ceremony at 2 p.m. Sunday for the new baseball addition at the George Gilleys Jr. Memorial Park. The baseball complex is being dedicated to Frank and Ida Pellegrimo.

Pellegrino, chairman of International Hat Co., donated $10,000 in 1962 for the purchase of 14 acres for improvement to the park.

Improvements to the park cost approximately $30,000, of which Pellegrino donated an additional $1,000. Another $12,800 was received from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and the remaining $15,200 was raised by donated labor and the park fund.

The new baseball complex has a lighting system, restrooms, bleachers, storage shed, dugouts and two tennis courts.

World News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special Counsel John Doar today recommended that the House Judiciary Committee approve a bill of impeachment against President Nixon, a member of the committee reported.

Any recommendation by the committee will go to the full House, which would decide whether to impeach Nixon.

If a majority of the House votes for impeachment, the charges would then go to trial in the Senate, with a two-thirds votes needed for conviction and removal from office.

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers have had their first glimpse of a "kneeling" bus designed to help the elderly and the handicapped to board and leave.

The new bus has an air suspension system enabling the driver to lower the right front corner to within three inches of the curb or 10 inches of the roadway.

A Metropolitan Transit Authority spokesman said at a demonstration of the bus on Thursday that the city was planning to buy 50 of the special buses, which will be equipped with flashing red lights to identify them to persons who have difficulty boarding regular buses.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Patrolman Daniel Gilchrist, fired from the Albany police force for refusing to shave off his mustache, says he doesn't see how it would hinder his work.

Gilchrist obtained a order in U.S. District Court on Thursday directing the police department to tell why the firing was legal.

Gilchrist, 24, married and the father of two, says no civilians objected to the mustache and his wife liked it.

He also is asking for damages of $100,000.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - Mrs. Rose Houle, 26, who called herself Mrs. Robin Hood, has been arrested here after police warned her about inserting a dime in expired meters to save motorists a $2 parking ticket.

Officers said that she would leave a message on each vehicle which read, "I put 10 cents in so you wouldn't get a $2 parking ticket. All I ask for is my 10 cents back and your thanks." Also left was an address where the thankful motorist could repay her dime.

She was charged on Thursday with distributing handbills without permission. She faces a $20 fine if convicted.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Many Florida hotels and motels report business is up and that tourist traffic in the Sunshine State is nearly back to normal, the state's tourism director says.

Director Morris Ford said on Thursday that the state tourism industry is coming back from the fuel shortage but "we still have a ways to go."

He credited the comeback to the increased availability of gasoline and to a state advertising campaign.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Tom Soothers has married his high school sweetheart, now the mother of seven, a spokesman says.

The bride is Rochelle Robley of Genoa, Nev. The ceremony was performed on Wednesday night in the Little White Church in Las Vegas.

Both are 36.

Smothers' publicist said on Thursday that the couple met in high school in Tujunga, Calif.

The first marriages of both ended in divorce. Smothers has a son.

BOSTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, a former presidential aide convicted of obstructing justice, has been suspended by the state Supreme Judicial Court from practicing law in Massachusetts.

Colson is serving a 1 to 3 year sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of obstructing justice in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The Massachusetts Bar Association asked last week that Colson be disbarred. Colson, a Boston native, earned his original license to practice law in Massachusetts. He already has been disbarred in Washington, D.C., where he was convicted.

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) — U.S. Treasury Secretary William E. Simon has been given the word on how to drink coffee in the Middle East.

"Custom dictates accepting the cup, which holds about a tablespoon of coffee, with the right hand. To declin further coffee, shake cup lightly as it is returned to server," the U.S. embassy cabled on Thursday before Simon left for Jidda on his Middle East tour.

CORDOBA, Spain (AP) — Matador Manuel "El Cordobes" Benitez has been charged with assaulting a public official after an argument with a traffic officer, authorities say.

The retired bullfighter, who was charged on Thursday, could face up to a month in jail and a heavy fine if convicted.

Benitez, who left the ring two years ago, made an estimated $10 million during his career.

LENOX, Mass. (AP) — Leonard Bernstein will limit his performance on Sunday at the Tanglewood Music Festival because of his recent hospitalization, a spokesman says.

Bernstein became ill at his Fairfield, Conn., home last Sunday and his New York office said he has been persuaded to restrict his festival appareance to conducting two works. He had also been scheduled to play a concerto.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newly published testimony by H.R. Haldeman conflicts with sworn statements by John B. Connally about donations by milk producers to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. The former White House chief of staff told a closed session of the Senate Watergate committee last Jan. 31 that Connally once complained to him that no arrangements were made to receive dairy-industry contributions. But Connally has testified that he didn't discuss milk-producer contributions with anyone and that he had nothing to do with their political donations.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he changed his mind about listening to White House Watergate tapes and after hearing them still thinks President Nixon is innocent of anything impeachable. Since he took the nation's No. 2 office last December, Ford has insisted it would be inappropriate for him as a potential presidential successor to become involved by listening to the tapes. However, he disclosed at a hometown news conference Thursday that he changed his mind because of the controversy over conflicting transcripts. Ford admitted "there are some differences in the transcripts."

MAHARIS COMES BACK TO TELEVISION

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Suddenly, there's George Maharis all over late night television, appearing in three new mystery and adventure specials in the next few weeks, all on ABC's Wild World of Entertainment.

Actually, even if George is not appearing on TV with the regularity of days of yore, he is still a busy young entertainer, with a schedule that is booked until Christmas.

After a promotion tour for the three TV shows in New York, he will tour "6 Rms Riv Vu" for 16 weeks. Then in the fall he will be appearing in the new MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas where ads will proclaim "Mr. George Maharis is what MGM stands for." After that he will appear in Seattle and that takes him up to Christmas.

"This year, I'll be at home for a total of three months. This is an 'on the road' year."

George is used to being on the road. The vehicle which introduced him to TV was, of course, Route 66.

"The business has changed since then," he says. "When we did that, we worked 52 weeks a year. We made 32 or 35 programs and it took all year to do it."

He's not reluctant to do another series, but says he will choose carefully.

"It's not easy finding one you like. It's not like other work where you can do a job you aren't mad about for a short time. A series creates special conditions. It's like going to the altar and saying, "I do" with someone you don't dig, and then spending all your time with that person.

"Boy, you get up so early in the morning and everything — like stores and banks — is closed. Then you leave the studio late and everthing is closed again.'

George is generally happy with life, hoping only that he can get a little more time at his home. "I like traveling but everything is so standardized today. Hotel rooms all look alike and food tastes as if it has all come from one kitchen."

George is less the angry young man (but always with humor) that he used to be and is now more the concerned citizen.

He worries about politics, Watergate and the fact that audiences are accepting violence and brutality on screen and stage.

"Audiences accept the fact that life is a throwaway. They're not feeling any more. It's a dehumanization process. If it keeps up, people won't see, feel, smell or hear."

Coryell Puts Music before Technique

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"There is a personality that an instrumentalist transmits that goes beyond what he is able to do as a virtuoso," says Larry Coryell, who is recognized as a virtuoso on the guitar. "I'm not saying you don't need technical facility. But which comes first, music or technique?

"I think in my own case, technique gets in the way of music very often. If music comes first, you know you're on the right track.

"I was told that by Gabor Szabo, 'Music comes first. The instrument comes second.' And Barney Kessel wrote it on the back of one of his albums: 'The guitar is a means to an end only.' "

Coryell has a new group, the Eleventh House, which has an LP, "Introducing the Eleventh House," and single "The Funky Waltz," on Vanguard. A review in Billboard begins:

"Larry Coryell's career has been unquestionably frustrating, at least for many of his admirers, for Coryell's long-standing eminence as a volatile guitarist and a pioneer in the fusion of cooler, more exploratory jazz styles and rock-flavored electric textures has always outdistanced his popularity. This latest band could provide a more positive momentum, though, for at last Coryell appears to be fronting a group that is beautifully balanced and in comparatively good shape to make many new friends."

The five-man Eleventh House also is on an April and May tour of the United States and five cities in France with only two nights to rest. Then the next eight months are booked pretty solid, including the Newport Jazz Festival.

"Country-western music was played on radio sations during my childhood. The first guitar player who had a big effect on me was Chet Atkins because of his complete mastery of the orchestral approach to the guitar.

"I met him briefly in Nashville last year. I called my mother, 'I finally met Chet. He came to hear us play. I felt like a bumbler in front of a master.' If I'd known he was in the audience, I wouldn't have been able to go up there.

BASEBALL WORLD OF JOE GARAGIOLA

COLORFUL NICKNAMES AND EXAMPLES OF HOW NOT TO MAKE PLAYS ARE SUBJECTS OF 'BASEBALL WORLD' PRECEDING ALL-STAR GAME

Can you imagine a "Soup to Nuts" baseball team -- or picture "the right way not to make the play?" A special edition of the Peabody Award- winning "Baseball World of Joe Garagiola" does just that Tuesday evening, July 23 (7 p.m. DST), preceding NBC Television Network coverage of Major League Baseball's 1974 All-Star Game (7:15 p.m.).

Produced and directed by Don Ellis, written by Frank Slocum, and hosted by Joe Garagiola, this particular "Baseball World" takes a humorous look at some of the game's most colorful nicknames, as well as -- through Joe's eyes – the kinds of plays sure to keep players of All-Star teams.

No other sport has had the unique nicknames for players that baseball has throughout its history. Nicknames, often coined by bullpen crew members just passing the time, are depicted in one segment by animated cartoons prepared for NBC by Perpetual Motion Pictures, Inc.

The "Soup to Nuts Team," for instance, features the likes of "Noodles" Hahn, "Cracker" Schalk, "Oyster" Burns, "Turkey Donlin, "Catfish" Metkovich, "Pickles" Dilhoefer, "Strawberry" Bernhard and "Pretzels" Pezzullo. And for condiments, how about "Salty" Parker and "Pepper" Martin?

As to the art of fielding, Joe says: "We all know the right way to make the play, but during the course of the season we see many examples of the right way not to make the play ... such as a first baseman waiving his catcher off a foul pop both are chasing, saying he's got it -- then letting it drop."
